TWO-TIME ESCAPEE FROM JAIL RETURNS

Keeps Promise with Aid of Wyandot Co. Officers.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 27—Gene Taylor, 16, of Upper Sandusky, who escaped from the Wyandot county jail for the second time in two weeks, returned to the jail yesterday as he promised in a note he left when he fled—but the return was not exactly his own idea.

Taylor was recaptured at 2:30 p. m. yesterday by Sheriff B. H. Stansberry and Deputy Karl Stansberry as he was trying to hitch a ride between Little Sandusky and Harpster. When he escaped the second time after he allegedly broke into a cafe and stole $150 and later stole four different automobiles, he left a note stating he would be back on Thursday in time to go to Columbus, where he was to appear before the bureau of juvenile research.

Upper Sandusky officials stated that reports received during the boy's absence from the jail that may be connected with the flight include the theft of a car at 9 p. m. Wednesday from Upper Sandusky.

The car was found at 1 a. m. Thursday in Marseilles and a check with authorities there revealed the burglary of the Dawson restaurant where $10 in cash, some cigarettes and candy were missing and also the theft of a car from a Marseilles home. The latter was located yesterday afternoon in Waldo.

Top U. S. Communist Sentenced to Prison

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—Gerhart Eisler, Communist, today drew the maximum federal court penalty of a year in prison and $1,000 fine for contempt of congress.

Federal District Court Justice Alexander Holtzoff passed the sentence after denying a motion for a new trial and dramatic personal plea for mercy from Eisler, who has been described in congress as the "No. 1 Soviet commissar" in this country.

Eisler was convicted June 10 of contempt in refusing to take an oath for testimony before the house committee on un-American activities last Feb. 6.

10 HURT IN ARIZONA

WELCH, Ariz., June 27—Ten persons were slightly injured in the derailment of the Santa Fe passenger train No. 1 two miles east of this northern Arizona settlement last night.

CALLS WRECK UNAVOIDABLE

Had Flyer Remined on Rails Open Switch Would Have Derailed It.

By The Associated Press

SHELBY, O., June 27—Government and railroad officials continued today to seek the cause of the New York Central's St. Louis Special derailment that took six lives Wednesday night, and an eye-witness to the crash contended an accident was "unavoidable."

Floyd B. Carter of Plymouth, O., chief engineer for a firm making industrial locomotives, told The Associated Press yesterday that if the special had crossed over from the eastbound to westbound main lines successfully, an open switch just west of the accident would have thrown it off the rails.

Carter said he sat about 50 feet from the crossover in an automobile, watching a work crew when he saw an "old man standing by the open switch waving his arms."

Carter estimated the train's speed at about 70 miles an hour.

"When it was about in the middle of the crossover, the front wheels began to lift. Then both locomotives left the track and plowed into the embankment," he said.

The crash claimed the lives of both locomotive engineers and their firemen. Two laborers were crushed to death beneath a toppling express car while they walked alongside the right of way.

C. F. Parshall of Marion, railroad inspector for the public utilities commisison of Ohio, C. H. McCarty of Cleveland, and Joseph Reynolds of Cleveland, inspectors for the interstate commerce commission, were conducting an investigation yesterday and today at the scene of the wreck.

They sought to determine whether the wrecked Cleveland to St. Louis passenger coach train was violating a "caution" order.

Hearing will be held at the N.Y.C. superintendent's office in Springfield, probably Monday and Tuesday.

4 Marionites On Train Uninjured But Suffer Shock

Four Marion residents were aboard the New York Central passenger train which was derailed at Shiloh Wednesday night, killing six persons. Returning to Marion were Donald Sloan of Delaware avenue, superintendent of the Marion cemetery, Francis G. Smith of 208 Lincoln avenue, of Smith's Motor Sales agency, Rex P. Sullivan of 218 East Washington street, and Miss Janet Ulmer of 445 Forest street.

Mr. Smith, who was in the front end of the smoker car coupled directly behind the two engines of the train, said he got out of the car and went to the aid of two trainmen burned by steam from the wrecked boilers. Thinking the boilers had not yet exploded, he carried the two men a safe distance from the engines. Both later died in Shelby hospital.

Mr. Sloan was returning from Youngstown via Cleveland. He had been attending the Ohio Association of cemetery superintendents' convention, and was elected

FORD WORKERS GET RAISE AND PENSION PLAN

110,000 Production Employes Share in Industry's First Retirement System.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 27—The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Automobile Workers' union reached an agreement today providing for a wage increase of seven cents an hour and a pension plan instead of paid holidays for some 110,000 production workers.

Richard T. Leonard, head of the UAW-CIO Ford division, said the pension plan will cost the company $200,000,000 a year. It is the first old age retirement plan to be implemented in the automotive industry.

Leonard said the direct wage increase plus the benefits of the pension plan will make the increase "over 15 cents an hour" to the workers.

First Company Offer

When the negotiations between Ford the UAW-CIO began several weeks ago the management offered the industry pattern increase of 11½ cents an hour more in wages plus 3½ cents an hour to be used to provide for six paid holidays.

This was the program accepted by the union from General Motors and Chrysler Corp. The union, however, refused this and demanded inclusion of a pension plan in the contract.

When the contract is finally signed it will run for a minimum of two years.

Statement Issued

A joint statement issued by Leonard and John F. Bugas, Ford vice-president in charge of industrial relations, said in part:

U.S. MINE CONTROL NEARS END TODAY

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, June 27—With nearly two-thirds of the nation's miners on strike and a fuel shortage pinching steel mills and railroads, the government prepared for an exit from the soft coal business at midnight tonight.

Actually the U. S. flags at the mines, symbols of government operation, will not be lowered until Monday noon, but tonight the miners begin a 10-day vacation with pay granted in their contract with the naval coal mines administration.

The government took over the mines during another strike — on May 21, 1946, after little or no coal had been dug for 59 days.

The present walkout dated only from last Monday when congress overrode President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley labor bill. Within a few hours several thousands miners had left the pits; today the number idle, mainly in protest against the new law, had grown to more than a quarter of a million scattered over 11 states.

Future Still Uncertain

The return of the nation's 2,500 mines in 22 states will leave still unsolved the problem of what will happen next July 1 when the miners' vacation ends. No wage contract between the miners and the AFL-United Mine Workers has been signed; the miners have always maintained "no contract, no work."

Meanwhile, as dwindling stockpiles of coal forced layoffs of steel workers and as coal-carrying railroads began furloughing their train crews, President Truman urged labor and management to comply with the provisions of the much-disputed Taft-Hartley act.

From across the nation came these reports of miners idle and effects of the resultant fuel scarcity:

Miners: Number of idle over over 250,000 with Pennsylvania leading the list with 64,200. Idle in other states were 56,000 in West Virginia; 40,000 in Illinois; 35,000 in Kentucky; 20,000 in Alabama; 11,000 in Virginia; 5,000 in Tennessee; 10,933 in Ohio; 7,101 in Indiana; 2,000 in Utah; 1,000 in Colorado.

Steel: Wheeling Steel Corp., Wheeling, W. Va., announced an immediate 38 per cent slash in coke production at its East Steubenville, W. Va., ovens; Sharon Steel Corp. banked two blast furnaces and four open hearths at its Farrell, Pa., plant; Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Carnegie Illinois Steel Corp., and Geneva Steel Co. have started cutpack operations. Industry spokesman says poll of 19 firms showed from 19 to 49 days fuel supplies on hand or in transit.

Railroads: Layoff of trainmen on coal runs at Birmingham, Ala., underway with officials predicting several hundred workers to be

8 Enter Pleas To Indictments

Man Held for Fertilizer Plant Fire Sent to Hospital for Observation.

Two of the eight persons indicted by the Marion county grand Jury last week entered pleas of guilty, one changed his plea to guilty after pleading not guilty and the remainder entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned in the court of Common Pleas Judge Paul Smith, Thursday.

Orval L. Blankenship, 23, indicted on an arson charge in connection with the fire which destroyed the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer Co. plant, entered a plea of not guilty and was committed to the state hospital at Lima for a 30-day period of observation. Also committed to the state hospital for 30 days, after pleading not guilty, was Allen K. Campbell, indicted for forgery. Hugh Kirkwood was appointed to represent Blankenship upon his representation to the court that he had no funds or ability to secure an attorney.

Harry E. Manley and John E. Vernon both entered pleas of guilty. Manley, charged with larceny, was fined $50 and costs. He has been confined to the county jail for the last 60 days awaiting convening of the grand jury. Vernon was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Harrison Jones, alias "Casey Jones," indicted for assault with intent to kill, pleaded not guilty and his case was set for hearing on July 3. No disposition was made of the case of William E. Kline, who changed a plea of not guilty to guilty upon the advice of his attorney, Frank Wiedemann. He was indicted for purse snatching.

Geraldine Williams, out on bond, and Francis Hickman, both indicted for taking a purse dropped by a gasoline station attendant, pleaded not guilty and their trials were set for July 14. Hickman's bond was set at $1,000.

MIDWEST PREPARES FOR NEW FLOOD LOSS

By The Associated Press

DES MOINES, Ia., June 27—The flood-stricken midwest area of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois, where thousands remained homeless and damage to crops was estimated at millions of dollars, prepared for further devastation today as rivers and streams rolled on to near record crests.

Residents of Ottumwa and Eddyville, Ia., who twice in less than a month have fought flood waters, again were threatened by the swollen Des Moines river. Yesterday the stream, together with the Raccoon river, brought the highest water in 44 years to Iowa's capital city of 170,000.

There was no letup in the surging Missouri river, which in Boonville, Mo., reached 31.8 feet in the greatest flood in 103 years. The muddy stream overflowed into thousands of acres of land near Rulo, Nebr.

At least 2,000 persons were homeless along the Mississippi river between Alton and Cairo Ill.

In St. Louis, army engineers reported that levees protecting more than 42,000 acres in southern Illinois were endangered by the new crest of the Mississippi river which is nearing St. Louis. Residents of the 13,200-acre Stringtown-Fort Charlers levee district north of Chester, Ill., were warned to move out as a "precautionary measure."

In Des Moines, two persons were missing and believed dead and about 1,800 were homeless after 73 square blocks were flooded yesterday when the Des Moines and Racoon rivers crested almost simultaneously.

Delaware Dam Funds Asked

$1,800,000 Listed with Other Items in Bill Going to Congress Today.

Congress received today a flood control bill listing recommendations for appropriations including $1,800,000 for the Delaware dam and reservoir on which construction is now under way north of Delaware on the Olentangy river, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The Delaware reservoir is estimated to cost $5,111,000; allotments to date total $2,595,000. It is designed to protect Columbus and surrounding territory from floods.

Dillon Dam Included

The $6,000,000 appropriation for Ohio flood projects carried by the bill also include $2,000,000 for the controversial Dillon dam near Zanesville.

The house appropriations committee also recommended $1,400,000 for the Portsmouth-New Boston flood wall; $850,000 for Cincinnati's flood defense program, and $600,000 for Newport across the Ohio river from Cincinnati.

Except for Dillon dam, the amounts for work on the projects during the next 12 months are the same as budget estimates. The army engineers had requested $3,400,000 for Dillon.

Leaders In Controversy

Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio) and Rep. Griffiths (R-Ohio) are engaged in a fight over proposals to cancel authority for the dam, the former contending it is too costly and unnecessary, the latter arguing that it is needed to supplement flood control provided by the 14 completed dams of the Muskingum Conservancy district.

A house public works subcommittee completed hearings yesterday on McGregor's bill to kill the project.

Army engineers estimate the cost of the dam at $13,771,330. Nearly $3,000,000 has been spent for rail relocation and other work.

The fund for Cincinnati was recommended to continue a $9,369,500 program involving a barrier dam across Mill creek along with levees, walls and a pumping plant and other works on the Ohio river. Mill creek valley covers most of Cincinnati's great industrial area. Nearly $8,000,000 has been spent on the project. Besides the new appropriation, the army engineers have $107,000

LAZARUS BUYS SITE FOR STORE

Plans Announced by Columbus Firm for Branch Business on W. Center St.

The F. & R. Lazarus Co. of Columbus has purchased a site on West Center street for construction of a branch store to serve the Marion area, Robert Lazarus, an executive of the company announced today.

The site, 58 by 192 feet, is located at 225-29 West Center street and is now occupied by the Emerson block. Storerooms in the building are occupied by the Huss Sandwich shop, G. & C. Sporting Goods store and Jump's store. The second floor is divided into apartments.

Because of present high building costs no immediate construction is planned, Mr. Lazarus said. However, it is planned to erect a two-story store with a basement sales area when conditions permit, he said. Purchase of the Marion property, Mr. Lazarus stated, is the first step in the company's proposed program for establishing branch stores throughout Ohio.

The property was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Juelke of Marion.

Ringling Circus To Show Here July 18

Marion's fourth and biggest circus of the 1947 season, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey will show in Marion on Friday, July 18. Traveling by rail, the 125-car train will come to Marion from Mansfield, by way of the Erie railroad and following the performances will transfer to the Pennsylvania railroad and entrain for Columbus. It is expected the show will unload at Greenwood street.

The tents will go up on the Drake circus lot on East Fairground for afternoon and night performances. The "biggest show on earth" has many new attractions plus the "standbys" which have entertained youngsters and their seniors for generations past.

MORNINGSTAR ACCEPTS MANSFIELD GRID POST

Former Purdue Star Signs at $4,800 a Year.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., June 27—Appointment of A. E. (Augie) Morningstar of Portsmouth as athletic director and head football coach at Mansfield High school was announced today.

Morningstar, a former Purdue football star who coached Portsmouth High's football team last year, signed a two-year contract at $4,800 a year, said W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools.

Bill succeeds Paul E. Snyder, who resigned as head coach last week because of ill health.

Morningstar was football coach at Mansfield High school in 1946, when the Tigers won eight games in Pacific coast conference play.

Masked Gunman Holds Up Filling Station Attendant

A masked robber, armed with a Colt automatic, stole $60 in bills from the Standard Oil Co. filling station on South Main street at 4:18 a. m. today after forcing the attendant, Robert Ridenbough of Windsor and Columbia streets, to unlock the cash drawer, police reported today.

Ridenbough said the man came into the station while he was alone, threatened him with the gun and announced, "This is a holdup!"

He instructed Ridenbough to unlock the drawer then forced him to enter the rest room connecting with the office while he helped himself to the contents of the drawer. The lower part of his face was covered with a red Indian handkerchief.

Ridenbough was unable to give a description of the man other than saying he was masked and was wearing a brown suit and dark hat.

The robber was apparently alone and after taking the money he ran west on West Columbia street.

Ridenbough didn't know if the man had an accomplice or if he made his getaway in a car after leaving the station.

Traffic Accidents, Fire, Shooting Cause of Fatal Mishaps.

Four young persons, ages 4 to 19, died yesterday and today as the result of accidents in Marion and vicinity. They were:

Roy Smith, 16, of Claridon, fatally injured when the motorcycle he was riding on Mt. Vernon avenue swerved from the street and crashed into a tree.

Roger Hetzner, 4, burned fatally when trapped in a playhouse fire at home near Radnor.

Perry Haudenschield, 5, of Kenton, killed by accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of his 13-year-old uncle.

Miss Jewell Webb, 19, of Berkshire, Delaware county, killed in an automobile collision near Delaware.

Motorcycle Crash Kills Claridon Youth

Roy Richard Smith, 16, of Claridon was fatally injured yesterday when he lost control of a motorcycle and struck a tree while riding on Mt. Vernon avenue at 2:30 p. m. He was taken in the Merle H. Hughes ambulance to City hospital where he died at 6:20 p. m. of skull fracture.

He intended to buy the motorcycle and was riding it for the first time.

The accident happened, according to police reports, when the youth, who was riding east on Mt. Vernon avenue rounded the curve near Reed avenue and slowed down after swerving to the south side of the street to avoid colliding with a westbound truck.

Witnesses told police the truck had pulled to the south to go around a barricade erected in the center of the street by employes of the Marion Water Co. The boy lost control, ran over the curb and struck a tree in front of 947 Mt. Vernon avenue.

According to reports from friends, the youth had come to Marion to purchase the motorcycle. He had been driven over by a friend, Robert Pickett, and was returning home riding the vehicle for the first time to get the approval of his parents before he purchased it. Pickett was trailing him in the car.

He was born Oct. 18, 1930, in Claridon township to Roy F. and Delcie Chapman Smith and was a member of Salem Evangelical United Brethren church east of Marion. He would have been a senior in Claridon township High school next fall.

Surviving with the parents is a brother, Robert W. Smith. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Rev. W. B. Smith, pastor of the Rural Salem Church. Burial will be in Salem cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Kenton Child Killed In Pistol Accident

Special to The Star

KENTON, June 27—Perry Lee Haudenschield, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haudenschield of Kenton, died in Antonio hospital here at 5:25 p. m. Thursday of wounds inflicted by a .22 calibre pistol accidentally discharged by his 13-year-old uncle, Franklin Haudenschield. The child was shot at 11:45 Thursday morning, the bullet entering his brain.

Chief of Police C. W. Sheldon reported that Franklin had arrived in Kenton Wednesday evening after a 4-H tour, too late to return home, and decided to spend the night at the home of his brother, Robert. Thursday morning the two boys were playing with the pistol, apparently having mistaken it for a toy. It contained one shell. The butt of the gun had been replaced by one from a toy gun, police said.

Perry was taken to the hospital by a neighbor, Wilbur Schmidt.

Perry was born Nov. 20, 1941, in Kenton. Surviving with his parents are two sisters, Barbara Ann, 9, and Thelma K. 7, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roby of Kenton and Mrs. Susan Haudenschield, also of Kenton.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Price funeral home in Kenton. Rev. H. Pfister, pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, will officiate. Burial will be made in Grove cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Child Trapped In Playhouse Fire Dies

Roger Allen Hetzner, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Hetzner of three and one-half miles north of Radnor on the Norton road, died at 8:35 a. m. today in City hospital of burns suffered yesterday shortly before noon in his playhouse at his home.

It is believed by the family that the boy set fire to the straw which was on the floor of the playhouse with matches obtained by him in an unknown manner.

His rescuers, Anthony Strasser and Ervin Scheetz, both of Prospect, who were at the farm residing the barn, were forced to tear the roof from the playhouse when they found the door was wedged and couldn't be opened. The playhouse, a very small structure, had just recently been built.

The boy's mother, hearing his screams from the house, ran to his aid along with the two men. The father, who was working in the field at the time, was called and brought the child to the hospital.

The family resides on a farm owned by Dr. H. D. Osborn of Waldo.

According to a report received from the attending physician, the burns, which were of second and third degree, covered 97 per cent of the surface of his body. The family said the child was conscious while enroute to the hospital.

Roger Hetzner was born Jan. 9, 1943 in the Marion City hospital. Surviving with his parents are two brothers, Raymond Earl and Ronald Merle, both at home, the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hetzner of Upper Sandusky, and the maternal grandparents, J. R. Dowell and Mrs. Anna Dowell, both of Delaware.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Gehm funeral home at Prospect by Rev. Edgar Guinther, pastor of the Prospect Evangelical and Reformed church. Burial will be in the Radnor cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 8 tonight.

Accident Fatal To Delaware Co. Girl

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, June 27 — Miss Jewell Webb, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Webb of Berkshire, Delaware county, died yesterday morning in Jane Case hospital in Delaware of injuries suffered in an automobile-truck collision on route 37 near Delaware. Miss Webb was a passenger in an automobile driven by Kenneth Coffee, 17, of Sunbury when the cab of a truck driven by Alva Ceylor, 34, of Piqua skidded in front of the Coffee auto. Rain was falling and wet pavement was believed the cause of the crash. Ceylor said the truck skidded as he applied the brakes when he approached the entrance to a one-lane bridge.

Ceylor and Walter McClish, another passenger in the car, were taken to the hospital with Miss Webb. McClish suffered head injuries, cuts and bruises. Ceylor suffered a possible fracture of the right shoulder. Both were in fair condition. It was reported Miss Webb suffered a fractured skull and hip injury. The injured were taken to the hospital by passing motorists, Walter Davenport and a Mr. Stevens, both of Sunbury.

Miss Webb is survived by her parents, two brothers and three sisters. Funeral services will be held at the Wilson funeral home in Sunbury Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Sunbury cemetery.

Lack of Funds Cause Deaths

Hospital Heads Put Blame for Three Fatalities on People of Ohio.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 27—Three deaths from scalding in three days at Cleveland State hospital drew from Superintendent E. H. Crawfis, today an assertion that "the real blame lies with the people of Ohio, who are not giving us enough money to run the hospital properly."

The first death, on Tuesday, was that of Miss Anna Lace, 58, who was burned when a patient-attendant was unable to turn off a hot water faucet quickly.

Wednesday night a patient threw scalding water on three men in the shower room. Mark Lombardo, 68, died that night, Moses Maxwell, 69, died yesterday, and the other man, 65-year-old Andrew Seidic, was reported in a fair condition.

After visiting the hospital last night, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber ruled the deaths accidental, due to "insufficient personnel and equipment."

Water at 180 degrees temperature was accessible in taps at basins used for cleaning purposes, because the same lines supply the laundry and kitchens, where water of that temperature is required by law, said Dr. Gerber.

To care for 2,500 patients there are 200 attendants and six doctors, but there should be 400 to 500 attendants and 20 or more physicians, the coroner said.

Supt. Crawfis said the patient who threw the water was obsessed with the belief that the voice of God told him to "clean up bad people."

The attendant in charge had 75 patients and was an ex-patient himself, said Dr. Crawfis.

"He was not the world's best for the job. But what can you get at wages that run between $85 and $90 a month. We would have to go out with clubs and beat qualified persons into submission before we could get them to work for such wages," the superintendent declared.

Epworth Bible School Closing Program Tonight

The closing program for the Epworth Methodist Vacation Bible school, which has been in session the last two weeks, will be held at the church tonight at 7:30. "A Special Day In Bible School" will be shown, with a number of varied phases of the program. Visual aids and creative drama work have been new features of the school this year. Enrollment has been 226, with a large staff of workers. All members and friends are cordially invited to attend, it was announced.

CRESTLINE NAVY MOTHERS HOLD ANNIVERSARY PARTY

Supper Marks Seventeenth Year of Club Activity.

CRESTLINE, June 27—In observance of the seventeenth anniversary of the founding of the Navy Mothers' club of America an anniversary dinner was held for members of Crest Navy Mothers' club of Crestline at a local restaurant Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for 18. A large anniversary cake centered the table. Past commanders and present commander, Mrs. D. A. Nolder, were presented corsages by the club.

After this dinner the group went to the hall for a regular meeting. Plans were made to send a box to Bob Nolder who is confined in City hospital, Orange, Tex. It was decided to continue sewing layettes. A picnic for members and families at Roadside park July 22 was planned. Prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Meyers, Mrs. Jessse Emerick and Mrs. Martha Barlion. A cake was won by Mrs. Burke McCune. Mrs. Joseph Parella and Mrs. Nolder served lunch.

TO STUDY U. S. AGENCIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—The house has passed unanimously a bill to create a 12-member commission to investigate all agencies of the government with a view to promoting "economy, efficiency and improved service. The senate already has passed an almost identical bill. The legislation was sponsored by Rep. Brown (R-Ohio.

Declares Colleges Fail To Educate Girls for Marriage

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 27—Colleges make many women "misfits for marriage," Dr. Paul Popenoe of Los Angeles said today.

Discussing "can colleges educate for marriage?" At the University of Cincinnati's social hygiene institute, the director of the American Institute of Family Relations declared:

"From one-fourth to one-third or even one-half of the women who graduate from college fail to marry. Among those who do marry, the divorce rate is four times as high as that of college graduate men."

"One of the reasons for this," the speaker asserted, "recently was pointed out by Dr. Lynn T. White Jr., president of Mills College, the principal college for women on the Pacific coast, who said:

"Historically, the universities of the Middle Ages were intended for the education of a male celibate priesthood. Modern universities and college continue in this tradition, and then they attempt to force this same education on women."

Dr. White considers the education of women in every co-educational college a "fraud," Dr. Popenoe reported, adding that some of the separate colleges for women are even worse because they simply try to turn out women as copies of men.

Students want "help in human relations," Dr. Popenoe said, as he concluded by listing these subjects about which they particularly want information: sexual adjustments, dating, courtship, choice of a mate, harmon in marchoice of a mate, harmony in marling family finances, child guidance, and getting along with parents and in-laws.

"Subway Sam" Back To Start Another Big Digging Project

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, June 27—Samuel Rosoff has come back to America, swinging the same two fists with which he fought his way as an urchin on the sidewalks of New York to kingpin of the tough, dark world beneath them.

Otherwise known as "Subway Sam"—a moniker earned by digging 15 per cent of the catacombs beneath New York City—Rosoff bounced into Baltimore and proclaimed while shadow boxing:

"Sixty-five years old and fit as a fiddle! Still ready to go!"

That "go" meant the 200-pound Rosoff was back from eight years of self-imposed exile in Mexico to round up sandhogs for another big digging job—a career at which he made one of several fortunes.

The job is a $9,000,000 seven-mile water tunnel for the city of Baltimore. It's the biggest project in Baltimore since the 1880's.

When Rosoff betook himself south of the border in 1939 he was the biggest man in the business. But business was getting bad as war loomed. Caused cancellation of a $47,000,000 contract he had for a third set of Panama Canal locks.

Came Here from Russia

Sam had been on the "go" since he arrived in America, a lonely immigrant from Russia at the age of 10. He started peddling newspapers. He learned to read from them and slept on them over gratings to keep warm.

He tried many trades, railroad candy butcher, peanut vendor for a circus and a lumberjack in the Adirondacks before he got into bigger money, contracting, salvaging sunken ships and running a New Jersey gravel pit.

But the bigger money also seemed to go faster and Rosoff went through a couple of fortunes before the golden era of the 1920's.

Then New York City contracts began to flow to Sam. There was a big ash-removal contract and some $30,000,000 for digging tunnels for New York's sprouting subway system. On the side he dabbled in bus lines, breweries and Cape Cod canals.

Ruled the Sandhogs

He ruled the world of the sandhogs with only a few outbreaks. There was one instance in 1937 when a striking sandhog leader was killed and Rosoff was held briefly as a material witness. But the police let him go for lack of evidence.

Rosoff lived in a swank Fifth avenue apartment, rode horseback in Central park and was known as a Broadway big timer. Eight years ago he left it all.

He wasn't idle in Mexico. Last July he finished a $10,000,000 irrigation tunnel for the Mexican government. While in Baltimore to "check up on a few things" he talked of commuting to Mexico to complete a rolling mill.

Digging for the Baltimore tunnel starts within three months and Sam is rounding up 500 workmen for the job. The schedule calls for completion of the tunnel within 900 days.

"We'll have it done within that," promises Sam. "We've never fallen down on a job yet."

AFTER LIE TESTS. In Chicago's detective bureau, Mrs. Betty Drazin Barrows, 22, is embraced by her estranged husband, Robert Barrows, after the two had taken lie detector tests in connection with the slaying of her 3-year-old son, Gerald Drazin, allegedly strangled by a prowler who attempted to attack Mrs. Barrow. Police have placed the young mother in technical custody after inspection of the apartment revealed no foot or finger prints of an intruder.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 27—Volunteer work groups in the Vienna area, recently struck by a tornado, today appealed for able bodied men and boys to help clear away wreckage. The Vienna volunteer fire department and the Vienna grange will sponsor a two-day cleanup Saturday and Sunday. Leaders said some victims of the tornado still were in hospital and a number of aged persons have been living under tarpaulins.

GALION CHILD BURNED

GALION, June 27—Extremely painful, but not considered serious, were the burns suffered by Raymond Ferriman, two-year-old son of Mrs. Dorothy Ferriman. The boy was in the basement with his grandmother, Mrs. Carl A. Bercaw, while she was preparing to do the family washing. He turned quickly and sat down in a bucket of hot water. He was admitted to City hospital for treatment for second degree burns on the lower part of the trunk and thighs.

Guild Votes Gift To Missionary Workers

Closing meeting of the season for the Wesleyan Service Guild of Epworth Methodist church was a picnic at the home of Mrs. F. D. Loudenslager near Marion Wednesday night.

Miss Mary Heininger was in charge of business, and it was voted to send a gift of money to Rev. and Mrs. N. H. Billings, formerly of Marion, who are making preparations to take up duties next year in the mission field in French West Africa. A letter from Miss Eunice Stowell, missionary to Africa, now in this country, was read by Miss Rita Van Meter, and a letter from Russian girls to Rev. Horace Weaver, a former Army chaplain, was read by his sister, Mrs. Betty Roberts. Miss Mary Jo Stafford read a letter from Rev. and Mrs. Billings, and conducted devotions.

Group singing was accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Pace. Miss Florence Matthews and Miss LaVern Lash won guessing packages. A guest was Miss Harriet Goodwin.

On the hostess committee with Mrs. Loudenslager were Mrs. Josephine Stafford, Mrs. Marty Maner, Mrs. Hazel Black and Miss Dorothy Snider.

Farm Demonstration Offices Closed Today

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, June 27—A 30 per cent congressional cut in funds today forced the farm home administration to order 30 of its county offices in Ohio closed at the end of the day's business.

Among the offices ordered closed were those in, Mansfield, Gallipolis, Lima, Tiffin, Xenia and Wapakoneta. The move threw about 47 persons out of jobs.

The curtailment came after the house cut the agency's appropriation in half yesterday. The senate was expected to concur today. The agency was created by consolidation of the farm credit administration and the farm security administration.

Social Affairs

ANOTHER of the many pre-nuptial parties being given for Miss Marilyn Sletvold was the shower at which Mrs. L. G. Jones and daughter, Janis, were hostesses Wednesday evening in their home at 441 Summit street. She found gifts for her bathroom in a huge umbrella in her wedding colors of American Beauty and light blue, in front of the fireplace. Roses and crystalware repeated the colors in the appointments or a buffet supper and napkins bore the inscription "Marilyn and Bob." Rosebowls holding tiny rosebuds forming the centerpiece for lighted candles were on the smaller tables arranged throughout the rooms. Presiding at the large table were Mrs. Sletvold and Mrs. Paul Pocock. In bridge the awards were won by Mrs. Pocock and Mrs. Marion Wiant. Miss Sletvold was presented a guest award. Guests included Miss Marguerite Hegg of Waverly, Ia., Mrs. Curtis Guy Howard of Columbus, Mrs. Lawrence Jones of Youngstown, Mrs. Sletvold, Mrs. Pocock, Miss Mary Jane Llewellyn, Miss Ann Schaffner, Mrs. Wiant, Miss Ruth Ann Abel, Miss Marilyn Beal, Mrs. George Smith and Miss Dorothy Jones. Miss Sletvold is the fiancee of Robert E. Pocock. Their wedding will take place tomorrow afternoon in Emanuel Lutheran church.

MISS JEANNE OLEWILER'S spinster dinner was given Wednesday evening when Mrs. David W. Evans and her daughter, Mrs. David Pollak, entertained at the home of the latter on West Center street. White flowers were used for the table decorations and bouquets of roses and delphinium throughout the rooms carried out the bride-elect's colors. She was presented a gift from the hostesses. Guests from out of town included Mrs. Richard Olewiler of Cleveland and Mrs. Edward Converse of Delaware. Miss Olewiler's marriage to Ralph D. McCambridge of New Lexington will take place this afternoon in the First Presbyterian church.

AT the Ladies' day party at the Marion Country club yesterday, flag golf and bridge were played. Winners in flag golf were Mrs. Paul Buchman, Mrs. J. B. Bray, Mrs. Rena Hunt, Mrs. R. H. Morgan, Mrs. Robert Owens, Mrs. George Howser, Mrs. W. E. Dutton, Mrs. John Dugan and Mrs. Paul Frye. In bridge, winners included Mrs. H. H. Clark, Mrs. W. R. Reichenstein, Mrs. Rex Kilbourn, Mrs. Fred Ziesenhein and Mrs. Virgil Dye. There will be a Ladies' meeting Thursday, July 3, as usual, it was announced.

A social hour and refreshments followed an evening of euchre when the Wimodausis club met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Lois Ansley of 490 South Main street. Awards for high scores were won by Mrs. Florence Burke and Mrs. Alice Tucker and Mrs. Ollie Winfield received the floating prize. A picnic July 30 will be at Garfield park. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Lucille Drake, Mrs. Marie Wilson, Mrs. Winfield and Mrs. Burke.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Clifford Alexander, guest of honor, when the M.N.O. Bridge club met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Robert Shackelford of Summit street. Awards in bridge went to Mrs. Charles Reid and Mrs. Kenneth Frayer. Mrs. Frayer of Summit street will be hostess for the July meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rizor, guests, won high score when Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilson entertained their euchre club in their home on Oak Grove avenue Tuesday evening. Lone hand awards went to Mrs. Dave Hord and D. W. Beman, and floating award was won by Walter Miller. The next meeting will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller on Jefferson street.

PICNIC MEETING HELD

A picnic at noon Wednesday was held by Circle No. 1 of Epworth Methodist church at the home of Mrs. Dale Lawrence of the Smeltzer road. Plans were made for members and their families to attend a W.S.C.S. picnic July 16 at Garfield park. Announcement was made of the lawn festival to be held at "Our House," Epworth youth center, July 11. Mrs. Morris Kline accompanied for group singing of hymns. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. V. E. Busler, Mrs. L. E. Martino of Lima, Mrs. G. A. Schweinfurth, Miss Margaret Huffman, Rosemond Graham and Corinne and Pauline Levien. The next meeting will be Sept. 25 at the home of Mrs. W. E. Miss Knight Wed In Brooklyn To Daniel McGowan

MR. AND MRS. LEO KNIGHT of North State street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Daniel McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGowan of Brooklyn, N. Y. which took place Sunday afternoon in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic church in Brooklyn, with Rev. Father Duffy reading the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by John Boyce, of Brooklyn, uncle of the bridegroom, was attended by Miss Jean Frazier of New York City. For her wedding Miss Knight wore a white gabardine suit and hat with a blue blouse and carried three white orchids. Miss Frazier wore a blue tinted gray dress and long pink gloves to match her flower hat. The bridegroom's brother, George McGowan was the best man. Mrs. Knight, mother of the bride, attended the ceremony.

Upon their return from a honeymoon at Breezy Point, Long Island, Mr. and Mrs. McGowan will make their home in Flushing Meadows, N. Y.

The bride has been making her home in New York City since her graduation from St. Joseph Academy in Cincinnati, where she attended and later was associated with the John Powers school of modeling. The bridegroom, a veteran of three years' service in the U. S. Navy, is engaged in the insurance business.

Fifth Anniversary Of Club Celebrated

A one o'clock luncheon party was held Tuesday at Greenwood Inn with 53 members celebrating the fifth anniversary of the organization of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers club.

The table was decorated with floral arrangements of garden flowers and miniature bouquets were given to each guest. Mrs. Forest Flockencier presided for the meeting. An article was read telling of the organization of the club which had been written five years ago. Another article, "Hat Search," by Edgar A. Guest, was also read.

Door prizes were awared to Mrs. Carl Barchfield, Mrs. Paul Albert, Mrs. L. W. Kohlhorst, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. William E. Hutchman. The following guests were introduced by Mrs. Jules Kepling: Mrs. Francis Larimer, Mrs. W. E. Haberman, Mrs. Winthrope P. Ames, Mrs. J. H. Casey, Mrs. Ralph Hunt, Mrs. Don J. Yoder, Mrs. William H. Hutchman, Mrs. D. K. Montgomery and Mrs. Edwin Robish.

Rural Women's Camp Registrations Open

Three whole days with no meals to get, no dishes to wash and programs chock-full of entertainment are in store for women of Marion's rural community planning to attend the Women's camp at Camp Pittinger Aug. 1 to 4. Any farm woman interested in camping may attend, but registrations must be made early—Marion county's quota is again 20. Reservations are due July 25 and preferably sooner, Miss Mary Faye McMillan, county demonstration agent said today.

The camp is located near McCutchenville in an attractive setting and has comfortable facilities. Any one interested may contact Miss McMillan at the extension office either by calling 2436 or writing her in care of the extension office.

Cut in War Department Funds Recommended

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—An 11.4 per cent, $443,540,231 cut in the $382,727,100 civil functions budget of the war department was recommended today by the house appropriations committee.

The committee advised in a report to the house that $339,186,869 be appropriated for the activities during the fiscal year starting July 1. Civil functions include river and harbor and flood control work, upkeep of national cemeteries, and maintenance and operation of the Panama Canal.

In making its biggest cuts the committee approved $95,159,700 for rivers and harbors, a reduction of $7,334,300 from the budget, and $157,541,800 for flood control, a $30,514,300 slash.

BOARD TO INTERVENE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—The railway mediation board announced today it will intervene July 8 in an attempt to break the deadlocked wage negotiations between the nation's railroads and 17 brotherhoods of non-operating employes.

Mt. Victory Church Scene of Wedding

MT. VICTORY—The Mt. Victory Methodist church was the scene Sunday afternoon of a wedding when Miss June Appelfeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Appelfeller, became the bride of Walter G. Wagner. The couple repeated their vows at 2:30 o'clock as Rev. Robert E. Miller read the double ring ceremony. The custom of open church was observed.

The altar was decorated with urns of white peonies interspersed with sprays of deutsia. Seven branch candelabra holding tall burning tapers added their beauty to the service.

A program of nuptial music was given by Miss Helen Winder. She played A Love Story, Tonight We Love, Together, Star Dust, Always, Indian Love Call, Leibestraume, I Love You Truly and Venetian Love Song. Mrs. William Mollett sang "Because" and "At Dawning."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white dressmaker suit cut on long fitted lines. Her halo hat was trimmed with flowers, matching her arm bouquet of white shasta daisies. Attending the bride as maid of honor was her life long friend, Miss Betty Furer, whose suit, styled the same as the bride's, was in a delicate shade of pink. With it she wore a pink head band trimmed with pink daisies and carried an arm bouquet of the same flowers.

Serving as best man was John Davis, and ushers were Raymond Appelfeller, brother of the bride, and Bruce Butler.

Mrs. Appelfeller chose aqua with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Pinned to the shoulder of her frock was a corsage of white roses.

A reception at the bride's home east of town immediately followed the ceremony. Dominating the large table in the dining room was a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with the traditional bride and groom. On either side, carrying out the bride's color scheme of pink and white, was an arrangement of single pink peonies. Small tables around the lawn accommodated the guests.

For traveling Mrs. Wagner donned a white jersey frock with chartreuse and orchid floral print, combined with white accessories. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. To her shoulder was pinned a purple orchid. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wagner will be at home to their many friends at their newly furnished home in Mt. Victory.

The bride is a graduate of Mt. Victory High school with the class of 1946 and is a secretary at the office of the Mt. Victory Lumber company. The bridegroom was graduated from Mt. Victory High school in 1943 and served overseas in the U. S. Army during World War II. He is employed at the Kenton office of the REA.

No House, So Emperor's Niece Delays Wedding

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, June 27—Emperor Hirohito's niece, the princess Asako, has postponed her marriage because she cannot find a house to live in, Kyodo news service said today.

The princess, 21, was the second daughter of Prince Kuni. She was supposed to have been married last month but the nuptials were put off because of the housing shortage. Her husband-to-be is Prince Narichika Shimazu.

In former years, a palatial home would have been built for the couple, Kyodo said.

EUROPEAN ECONOMIC TALKS OPEN IN PARIS

By The Associated Press

PARIS, June 27—the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Russia assembled here today to try to draft a common response t oa United States proposal for European economic reconstruction with American aid.

The three statesmen—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—were scheduled to meet to begin their talks on the plan of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Speculation ran high as to whether the talks would result in closer cooperation between Russia and the western nations or would intensify disagreements between them evident since the war's end.

Since arriving in London Sunday, William L. Clayton, U. S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, has met with Bevin Prime Minister Attlee and other key British cabinet ministers presumably to present the U. S. view. He is expected to be on hand here for semi-official "consultations."

Officially, the U. S. was keeping in the background.

Guam Girls Like Their Presents from Navy

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

MARE ISLAND, Calif., June 27—Three giggling little native girls from Guam walked back and forth in the amputee training center in the U. S. Navy yard here.

They were casualties of the Pacific war, about to graduate from this rehabilitation hospital where Navy doctors are refitting combat victims who lost limbs in battle.

Hal Boyle

"Can you tell anything about them?" asked Commander Thomas J. Canty, officer in charge.

The tee-heeing girls liked the contest. After they had paraded from one end of the room to the other twice, I could figure from an almost imperceptible roll in stride that two had artificial legs.

"But I can't see anything unusual about the third," I said.

"Look at her arms," said Canty, pleased.

Close Inspection Needed

I had to go up close and inspect both hands before I could tell which one the Japanese bomb had spared her—and which one was new. The artificial hand had a slightly flushed look.

"Rosie is so proud of it that she colored it up a little herself," laughed the commander.

She didn't want any of her friends back in Guam to miss seeing her pretty plastic present from Uncle Sam.

Canty and other navy doctors here feel the medical miracles performed for war victims like the Guam girls should be made available to civilian amputees.

Urging such a rehabilitation center, Canty said:

"Some 20,000 American soldiers, sailors and marines lost arms or legs during the war, but during the same period there were 120,000 civilian amputees."

The center here has restored to active life ninety per cent of the 2,000 military amputees who have passed through this hospital. Attracted by its phenomenal record, civilians from all parts of the world have come, seeking aid.

No Help Available

Navy medical specialists have the heart breaking task of telling each cripple all they can do is advise him.

"We cannot help them, because we can only take American combat victims and servicemen," said Comamnder Canty.

"One woman had lost her legs seventeen years before, and had lost hope of ever walking again. But she could have been taught to walk in a matter of months."

Another visitor was a Chinese millionaire who had lost his legs in the bombing of Hongkong. He could barely move about with the help of two canes. Here most amputees learn to walk without using a cane.

"He offered to pay anything—and I guess he had most of the money in China—but we couldn't take him in," said Canty.

There is presently no clinic in America, he said, where civilian amputees can find the combination of surgeon specialists, skilled limb fitters and experienced rehabilitation experts such as the government has grouped together in its training centers.

Most of these casualties of civil life thus must go individually to artificial limb firms, buy the arms or legs they need, and learn by themselves how to use them. They generally become discouraged and give up.

"A survey of 476 civilian cases in New Jersey," Canty said, "showed that only twelve per cent of arm amputees wore their artificial arms and only two per cent utilized them in their work. Only about 50 per cent of the leg amputees wore their artificial legs."

Thorough amputee training takes time and money. Mass production of artificial limbs here has cut the cost to less than a third—from $250 down to $73—but it takes up to six months to train an amputee to wear his new limbs and use them in his work.

"It is well worth the cost, however, if it keeps an amputee from becoming a hopeless cripple, dependent on his family or government relief," Canty continued.

"One group of 365 handicapped people returned to work was found to have a higher production rate, fewer accidents and less absenteeism than men on the same job who had no handicap."

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

WISDOM OF BIRDS

Editor of The Star: Surrounded as we are with creatures of an order lower than our own, we must sometimes pause and wonder just how intelligent are these inferior beings? For example, how wise is a bird?

A Monarch butterfly, the big red-brown or orange stately beauty so common here, has a nasty acrid taste (if you don't think so, try one after lunch), since his larval or caterpillar state was spent consuming quantities of milkweek leaves. Now the Viceroy butterfly makes a nice delicious morsel — to a bird, of course. But, because of his experience with the Monarch, the bird leaves the similarly-colored Viceroy strictly alone.

Which brings us to ask how many Monarchs would, say a robin, have to gag on to learn his lesson? The following incident may or may not throw light on the subject, but certainly seems indicative:

I at one time had a habit of taking daily walks, making the same route every day. I had noticed, subconsciously, a string hanging down from a tree branch, until one day, annoyed at its dangling in my face, I gave it a jerk. That was the first I knew of the robin's nest four feet above me, from which the string was suspended. Mrs. Robin evidently having left her scissors down south. As I pulled her bell-rope, she promptly took off, scolding at an alarming rate. The day following, I again tugged at her anchor-chain, and again she flew off the nest, squawking and raising Cain.

But on the third day, while I was still several feet from her pull-cord, she went through the same routine, scrambling from her throne with a furious tirade. She knew, or thought she knew, that nauseating fellow would jerk her string again, and anticipated him. Who says a Robin can't think?

Anyone Interested in the Public?

THE AMERICAN public was shocked by abuses of management before working people organized to protect themselves from unenlightened employers. All laws now on the books to restrain management came from the people's determination to stop abuses of employer power.

The public now has acted through government to stop abuses of union power. Union executives in some cases have shown themselves to be as reactionary as the most reactionary employer of the old days. They have asked for government discipline, and they're going to get it.

Here are two minorities—union management and business management—that have made the same mistake of thinking they could settle their quarrels to suit themselves. Both forgot a detail of United States government called popular sovereignty—the principle that the people themselves shall control the terms of their life in this country.

The people, through legislative action, pinned back the ears of management when abuses of power had discredited it. The people, again through legislative action, now have pinned back the ears of union bosses. The union bosses don't like it. The management bosses didn't like it either. In fact, they muttered about revolting and refusing to play the game under the new rules, just like the union bosses today.

To hear them tell it, they've done nothing to deserve such treatment. That's an old story; it's the same one the management bosses used in the same circumstances—and there's just as much truth in it. Employers didn't like the Wagner act when it was passed. They said they didn't need it. Union executives don't like the Taft-Hartley act. They say they don't need it. Unfortunately, what they've done and are still capable of doing speaks so loudly that what they say is drowned out.

The United States is larger than any of its minorities, a fact that has to be proved every so often as one minority after another develops illusions of unrestrained power that can't be tolerated in a republic. To the distinguished members of the great American doghouse some additions have been made, that's all. Be kind to the newcomers, gentlemen. They made the mistake of thinking they were bigger than the people—the same mistake you once made yourselves.

The Wool Bill Veto

THE PRESIDENT'S veto of the wool import quota bill kills a measure which would have been a threat to our tariff policy. The measure left the power to impose new import quotas and fees up to the President, who, in the light of his foreign policy, probably never would have used that power during the life of the bill. Nevertheless, the very presence of the law on the books would have meant to other nations that we had forged a weapon in contradiction of everything our foreign trade policy stands for.

Aside from those who saw in the law an opportunity for personal gain, none could very well justify it in the light of world conditions. Wool is one of the few products available for import. Our domestic supply is far from adequate. Our spokesmen at the Geneva trade conference are committed to a program of free interflow of goods to speed world recovery. With this law on the books, even though the import fee and quota provisions were unused, they would have had a difficult time espousing that noble aim while their government had approved a law in direct opposition to it.

Those Olympics Again

THOSE dubious sponsors of good will, the sponsors of the Olympic games, have chosen Helsinki for the 1952 games—Helsinki, home of modernistic architecture, champion distance runners and statesmen casting anxious glances in the direction of Moscow.

It's doubtful whether the world will be ready for any mass international sports contests by 1952. The games of the past have done little but fan old animosities, accentuate racial jealousies, and cause bickering over varying interpretations of the rules.

The 1936 games in Berlin were a sham and fraud insofar as symbolizing international amity. Adolf and his stooges strutted about, snubbing those they didn't deign to meet, causing many a tense situation. Foreign competitors at the 1932 games in Los Angeles went home miffed because, they said, the United States overwhelmed them by sheer force of numbers. And, of course, it's even money any international soccer game will end in a gang fight.

The United States has special reason to remember the Olympics with bitterness. Its greatest athlete, Jim Thorpe, one of the few real Americans who ever represented us in international competition, had to surrender his medals on a technicality.

Even from this distance, it's possible to forecast difficulties for the 1952 games. Stalin probably will want special timekeepers for Russian contenders; and any athlete who defeats a comrade will be denounced by Pravda as an enemy of the workers' republic.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

If Labor Tried To Scare Truman, It Succeeded.

WASHINGTON, June 26 — A week before the union reform veto vote, the big quadumvirate of labor, Messrs. John Lewis, Green, Phil Murray and Dan Tobin, met here and rendered a decision which was not made public. In effect they laid a whip over President Truman and put a tip-bite on the end. They anticipated the subsequent veto from the White House, and let it be known within Democratic party ranks that unless Mr. Truman threw enough weight on congress to sustain his veto, the said veto would be regarded as a routine gesture — "phoney" is the word they actually used, acrording to Democrats who received it. In this sharp and pushing way, they told Mr. Truman that unless he succeeded in getting congress to kill the bill, his veto alone would not warrant their confidence.

This explains the strenuous moves made by the President to impose his will on the legislators against their's. This was what was behind his unique activity, calling senators to confer, writing sequels to floor Leader Barkley on his veto message saying he really meant it, and even getting some railroad cars and a plane to haul the ill Senator Wagner from New York and the traveler Senator Thomas from Europe.

Of course, none of it worked, not even the railroad car or the plane. Wagner was too ill, Thomas too something or other, and both would not have made any difference in the result anyway.

The invitation of the seven Democratic senators and one Republican to lunch at the White House was a waste of food. Senator Sparkman was in the group and he changed his vote in order to support the presidential veto, but he had decided to do this long before. He said as soon as the bill passed that his vote for it would changed on a veto if the President offered reasons sufficient to him. Sparkman was party whip when he was member of the house, and he is something of a New Dealer or liberal at times. What influenced him most probably was party loyalty. The lone Republican at the lunch, Young, of North Dakota, said it was embarrassing for him to eat with so many Democrats, and the lunch therefore may have encouraged him to oppose the President. Yet actually the southern Democrats are known to have decided among themselves in advance to withstand whatever pressure could possibly be mustered against them by the unions and White House. One of their group said the confidence of the people in elected officials would be destroyed if they changed for the President or in fear of the unions.

Party loyalty probably also was responsible for the only other switch to the President on the veto in the senate, Lucas, of Illinois. He is party whip and that job entails worship of loyalty. If either Sparkman or Lucas got any promises of judgeships or postmasters, the reporters around the senate did not know it. They accepted these switches as coming in the normal course.

Tax Veto Different

On the tax vote, Minority Leader John McCormack had done a heavy inside pressure job. He defeated over-riding of that presidential veto in the house, using particularly the argument that the senate would fail to override anyway, so house Democrats could afford to get on the White House bandwagon with impunity.

But verily, the union reform over-riding was rather well cut and dried in advance in the senate. Senator Taft's first polls showed a 4 vote favorable margin (he thought he might lose Aiken and Tobey). But the Republicans made the issue a party matter and lost only the three senators who originally opposed their party, Morse, Malone and Langer.

So while the utmost organized pressure was practised, none by anyone made any difference. The determination of both sides not to do any political undercutting on this issue preserved original positions.

Whether Messrs. Lewis, Green, Murray and Tobin now think Mr. Truman's veto was "phoney", the Democratic side of the senate was not immediately advised. Perhaps the quadumvirate only wished to scare the President. Everyone agrees they at least did that.

Just a Minute

Teachers Available
In Any Back Seat

A New York educator proposes that the nation's high schools inaugurate courses in automobile driving.

Shortly now, Junior will be coming home with a report card giving him "D" in arithmetic, English and department . . but an "A-plus" in shifting gears.

Who thought to see the day when the 3-Rs would be reading, 'riting and riding?

The curriculum of the projected driving schools, in adition to regular classroom lectures, would undoubtedly include laboratory sessions at S-curves and grade crossings.

They may even carry the idea further, setting up a graduate school and offering Ph. D's in Chauffeuring to those who have taken advance courses in mental telepathy and thus know what the lady driver up ahead is going to do.

It's a great idea. I can hardly wait for the day when, having run headon into another 10-ton truck, the driver, somberly clad in cap and gown, climbs down to demand, "OK, freshman, where's your diploma?"

Tomorrow's Newspaper

By FRANK TRIPP

TOMORROW'S newspaper will be produced in a vastly different manner than that of today but if it is different otherwise it will be its readers who bring about the change.

Newspaper publishing is on the eve of a mechanical revolution. So much of what is to come is technical and as yet unrevealed by those who hold the secrets, that the time is not ripe for detailed discussion of it, even by the newspaper itself. Suffice to say, it is not very far off.

It will not be facsimile. That process prints the paper in each reader's home. It is delivered by radio, oncoming frequency modulation, FM, being the better adapted to it. At present facsimile's cost is prohibitive to both reader and publisher. That may be changed by development and production.

Today the equivalent of an average page, once set in type or typed, can be transmitted in about 15 minutes; a 20-page paper requiring something like five hours. Also it requires a special sensitized paper and uses twice as much, for it may not be printed on both sides.

To what extent facsimile will be speeded and ridded of bother and expense which householders will not tolerate, only time and skill of technicians will determine. As of now it is at best day-after-tomorrow's newspaper—certainly not tomorrow's. Fifty-four million tricky receiving sets would be needed to create what now is produced in less than 2,000 American newspaper plants.

* * *

Tomorrow's newspaper still will be produced in a central manufacturing plant but on lighter and faster presses and will come to you intact, as now. It should be more attractive in appearance and, with more newsprint available, bigger and better.

Little type or heavy metals will be used.

Photography, film, magnesium, plastics, electronics and simplified engraving and art, applied to the mechanical processes of printing will replace slower and more costly operations. Likewise improve upon them.

As has always been true, increasing and uncontrollable costs lure scientists and inventors, offer high reward and result in revolutionary changes which affect many people.

What will ere long be revealed will not importantly affect the writers and vendors of newspapers nor readers of them, beyond giving speedier delivery of a products more pleasing to the eye.

* * *

After all, come whatever changes, a newspaper is valued for its content and it must ever be a NEWSpaper—with just that emphasis on the first syllable.

Every newspaper, no matter how big its sphere, is local. It may reach out hundreds of miles to millions of readers, still it is local, as go the interests of men. Therein lie the strength and the immortality of the newspaper.

Tomorrow's newspaper must be, in content and service, essentially like today's. For today's was molded to the requirements of the territory it serves. It was born and brought up there. It has flourished and grown because it studies its neighbors' demands and because they supported it. It has survived because it better pleased more readers than did papers it may have absorbed or those which fell by the wayside.

That is why, from your standpoint, tomorrow's newspaper, no matter by what mechanics it is produced, will not be vastly different unless you — the people make it different.

As long as humans trust their eyes more than memory, they will want the complete record of world and community events delivered in a package which they may read at leisure, to which they may refer and, if they wish, preserve.

An entirely new technique may some day be able to produce such a package as economically as the newspaper; but that day will be set much farther into the future by what is just around the corner in newspaper production.

SEEMS THERE'S A DRAFT

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, June 27, 1937.

A resolution asking the return of Rev. Henry Maag, pastor of the Prospect Street M. E. church, was unanimously adopted at the quarterly conference of official boards of the Prospect Street, Zion and Bethlehem churches.

Two brothers were friendly foes when Marysville and Mar-o-Del golfers met here. The visitors won the match 24½ to 20½. The brothers were H. G. Greenfield of the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co. of Marion and Seward Greenfield of Milford Center, a mail carrier.

Mrs. Lottie Henderson of Kansas City, Mo., had arrived to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Bibler of Brush Ridge and other relatives and friends.

The wedding of Miss Betty Jane Stauffer and John A. Guthrie took place in the First Presbyterian church.

George J. Lehner, director of District No. 14, was named a district delegate to the national convention and the Buckeye Aerie quartet won the state championship at the closing session of the annual state convention of Eagles at Cleveland. The quartet was composed of John P. McAndrew, A. A. Ward, N. G. Irvin and Howard Orr, with Paul Malloy as accompanist.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, June 27, 1927.

The battle cruiser, Renown, docked at Portsmouth, England, bringing to an end a six months' tour of the Duke and Duchess of York, during which they toured Panama, Australia, New Zealand, Malta, Gibraltar and other empire points. Almost the first person to greet them was the Prince of Wales, who with Prince Henry had journed down from London to convey welcome home greetings from the royal family.

Mrs. Daniel Evans entertained friends at her home Limestone Place in celebration of the birthday anniverary of Mr. Evans. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rawlings of Mansfield.

Approximately 800 members and guests attended a dance sponsored by Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus, at Crystal Lake Park. L. A. Axe, chairman, was assisted by a committee composed of Clarence Silva, T. J. Frericks, Edward Huber, Henry Barnhart and Charles McDonough.

Walter C. Brown of Summit street was reelected scout executive of the Harding Area Council of Boy Scouts in a meeting of the executive committee at Camp John A. Owens.

Attorney C. C. Fisher left for Boston, Mass. where he joined his daughter, Miss Hope Fisher, who was to accompany him on a tour of Europe during the summer.

Amphibious Tractors Wait in Antarctica

By The Associated Press

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif.—There are a couple of amphibious tractors down around the South Pole in good operating condition, in case any one needs a lift.

Six U. S. Marines who accompanied the Byrd Expedition reported on their return there that the tractors, left the Bay of Wales, would run anytime with a little thawing out. The Marines went along to operate the tractors, which did the expedition's hauling.

Two Political Vetoes

By RAYMOND MOLEY

IT IS so clear that political considerations moved President Truman to veto the tax and labor bills that it is hardly worth while to examine his reasons. When a president has a veto decision to make, his advisers give him all sorts of memoranda of arguments. He can pick up one pile of papers or another, as broad political strategy suggests, hand the material to other advisers and draftsmen and say, "Fix 'er up."

Only once in a long while are votes changed by presidential arguments, and they certainly were not changed by the President's logic this time. The only occasion that suggests itself at this moment where sheer argument changed votes was President Roosevelt's veto of the bonus bill in 1935. It was a powerful message whose arguments were virtually unanswerable. Even then, however, the motive was political, since the president wanted the pump primed in 1936, instead of in 1935.

His Intentions Are Clear

President Truman is no novice in judging congressional opinion. He knew that his tax veto would be sustained. That killed tax reduction until 1948, when it can be done with a big flourish after he recommends it in his budget message. Thus, the benefit accruing to taxpayers would come on his initiative, and he would, of course, make this known in his campaign speeches.

But there was a more subtle reason for killing the tax measure, as this column suggested a month ago. The veto prevents the public from having three or four billion dollars more to spend this year and provides that amount or more for spending in 1948. Such pump priming has a definite influence on the economy. It makes sales rise and stimulates production. By next year, if it is not too late, it would provide a means of bringing all the indices above 1947.

Outlook for 1948

There is no risk in this course. The small decline in retail sales which is predicted for this year will be deflationary. That decline may go into 1948. And it might not then be easy to reverse the trend. For the time to provide a shot of inflation is at the beginning of a decline. If things get worse in 1948, the President will be blamed anyway. But the blame will be compounded, because he refused to try to prevent a decline in 1947.

The labor veto message was weak and ineffective. It was a mixture of all sorts of arguments, many of which were self-contradictory. It was a gesture to the unions, not a genuine effort either to convince congress or to move the public.

If these messages are samples of the President's advisers' assistance in speech-writing, he will have hard going when he argues his case in the next campaign. For the messages had neither coherence nor color nor force.

Oh, Russia, How Can You!

Trying to understand the Russians and get friendly toward the Kremlin is breaking down. The effort to make friends with them calls for greater perseverance than the determination to establish cosy contacts with a porcupine on a revolving floor with the lights out.

Moscow seems to have established the "Keep Off" sign as a national slogan. It reacts to a kiss with a scalping knife and its answer to a warm smile is a kick in the pants. Either Joe Stalin is looking for trouble or he is all thumbs.

We have made a careful study of play by play developments since the war and it seems to us that the Russians establish cooperation with the rabbit punch, seek world concord through the offside play and battle for a better world through the illegal use of hockey sticks.

Close harmony is regarded as capitalistic. Mutual trust is evidently held to be a non-Democratic custom and if you keep your promises you are an exploiter of the people.

Ode, With Apologies, In a Straw-Hat Season

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day
The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea,
The plowman homeward wends his weary way
And leaves the work to mask and mimicry.

Now fades the glimmering landscape on the sight
And all the air a solemn stillness holds,
Save where the barns blaze up in sudden light
And some new play out in the sticks unfolds.

No More Fidos

By TRUMAN TWILL

This department, smelling a story, recently sent out an investigator to poll the canine world on dogs' names. The investigator was gone about long enough to wash down a few pretzels before returning with a report that dogs' names are the same as always—nothing modern.

He found dogs named Trixie, Scotty, Jerry, Spot, Rinky, Mickey, Jackie, Laddie, Buddy, Dusty, Skippy, Frisky, Rover and Prince, he reported—nothing else. Fido, he asserted, was purely imaginary. He found no dogs named Fido and thought it was like trying to find a Pullman porter named George.

We do not like to challenge an associate and can understand how he may have fallen among a group of dogs that didn't know what was going on. But the dogs we've heard about recently have been called MacArthur, Hedy, Mister Boston Man of Distinction, Mister McGillicuddy and names that called for explanation.

Either that, or they were called puzzling names like Bicus, a short version of some registered name like Alsamander Bicuspids of Kennybrook III. We note that dogs costing $25 and over are likely to bear names that give the owners an excuse for mentioning the registration papers.

If someone wanted our advice about a good name to call a dog we'd suggest Free Enterprise which is always being put in the doghouse. What happens to it shouldn't happen to a dog. It's critics say it isn't housebroken and want to chain it up so it won't embarrass them. Besides Free Enterprise may be a nice thing to remember in a few more years, if things keep going from bad to worse.

If we lived in England, we'd name a healthy English Bull pup Churchill and have it around to remind us of a great man in an era of pipsqueaks. A thing like this can get personal but if someone gave us an American Bull terrier one of the finest dogs on earth, we'd name him Halsey and bid him bear it proudly.

After all, the dog doesn't know what he's called. The value of the name is what it suggests to the person doing the calling. The name should be a bridge of recollection, a memorial, a reminder of something too precious to forget. Maybe dogs' names aren't going modern, but there is a guess they are getting away from unimaginative standbys like Rover and Prince.

Telephone Provides Gospel

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Through classified advertisements and individually-distributed cards, Memphians have been getting invitations like these:

"Got yourself in an awful fix? Call 5-5116. There is a message for you."

"If you are lonely and burdened and feel that you need a lift, call 37-2418. There is a message for you."

It's part of a "telephone ministry" sponsored by the Memphis Youth for Christ program. Director Jimmy Stroud says 4,011 calls were handled on two telephones during the first ten days of the project. Operators are on duty from 9 a. m. until 11 p. m.

If you call one of the numbers, a volunteer worker will answer:

"Hello—this is Memphis Youth for Christ. We have a message for you taken from God's word." Then follows a passage of scripture and the speaker continues with a question such as "have you accepted Christ as your savior?"

H. W. Driver of Euclid Speaks at Kiwanis Meeting Here.

"Have You Got What It Takes?" was the subject of the talk given by H. W. (Ike) Driver of Euclid, lieutenant governor of the Ohio District of Kiwanis, when he spoke before Kiwanians here Thursday in their weekly luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Driver discussed a number of the accomplishments of Ohio Kiwanis during the last year up to the present time. He stated that five new clubs and four new Key clubs, which are youth organizations, have been organized during the year. In his praise of the work of the various clubs and also the state committee chairmen, he commended the Marion club on its activities.

Mr. Driver discussed the Kiwanis International convention which will open Sunday at Chicago, Ill., and stated that 455 reservations have already been made. He also explained that for the first time, representatives from three new clubs, one in Alaska and two in Hawaii, will be present.

Giving a history of Kiwanis, Mr. Driver explained that the club was organized in Detroit in 1915 and that the club motto, "We Trade," was changed in 1921 to "We Build." Mr. Driver discussed the objectives the Kiwanis club has and emphasized, the first one being "to give primacy to human and spiritual, rather than to material values of life." He closed by emphasizing the need and encouraging the club to enter into youth activities.

An announcement was made of the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen to be held Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at Greenwood Inn.

Among the guests were four boys who were Junior Kiwanians from St. Mary school during the last year. They are Dan Sherrer, Robert Pruzzo, James Zink and James Wagner. Robert F. Williams, chairman of the Kiwanis education committee, commended the boys for their interest in the club. The response was by James Wagner.

Other guests were R. W. Butts of Elyria, O., Frank Wilson of Birmingham, Ala., and Clyde Collins of Columbus.

UNION LEADERS DRAFT LABOR LAW PLANS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—Leaders of 6,000,000 CIO members, cautioned by President Truman along with all labor and management to live up to the new Taft-Hartley law, gathered today to draft a program of contest or compliance

CIO President Philip Murray convened his 51-member executive board to hear an up-to-the-minute size-up of the new statute as compiled by the labor organization's entire legal staff Attorneys for each of the 48 CIO unions met here yesterday with General Counsel Lee Pressman

Both the AFL and the CIO have rejected the idea of general protest strikes, although AFL President William Green told reporters yesterday that unions throughout the nation were urging him to call one to last "until the act is repealed"

Instead, Green called a meeting here July 9 of the heads of the AFL's 105 unions, to go over the law and determine a program of policy—the same type of session fixed for today by Murray and the CIO

President Truman made his appeal for compliance by employers and unions in a formal statement at his news conference late yesterday He called upon both labor and management 'to exercise patience and moderation in accommodating themselves to the changes made necessary by the act'

"In accordance with the constitutional processes of our government,' he said, 'we just all respect its provisions"

Mr Truman formally pledged that despite the enactment of the Taft-Hartley law over his veto, he will do all in his power to make sure the act "is well and faithfully administered"

PASSAGE OF UNIVERSAL TRAINING BILL URGED

Retired Justice Roberts Appears Before Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—Former supreme court Justice Owen J Roberts declared today that military weakness is leading the United States "down the old familiar road of appeasement" toward 'an all-out shooting World War III"

Urging congress to pass the universal military training bill before scheduled adjournments next month, Roberts said "the affairs of the world are approaching a crisis The military weakness of the United States is accelerating the approach of this crisis'

He said congress should "postpone the congressional vacation, if necessary, rather than to postpone consideration and passage of this vital and urgently needed legislation"

Military power today, the retired justice said is in "dangerous imbalance, heavily weighed in favor of one powerful military dictatorship"

"It is evident," he said, "that the United Nations, now in the formative stages of its development, will be impotent to maintain world peace in the foreseeable future" he added

First Decline Noted In GI Student List

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 27—The veterans administration said today more vetrans of World War II quit school during May than enrolled for courses under the GI bill It was the first decline since the educational program began

Nevertheless the agency predicts new registration peaks next fall and winter

The VA statement said 1 962,000 able-bodied veterans were enrolled in schools and colleges under the GI bill on May 1—133,000 fewer than on April 30

In addition, 129 000 disabled veterans were enrolled Their number did not change during the month

Plans Set for "Making Over" Silver St. School Building

Extensive improvements and a new addition are included in remodeling plans for the Silver Street school building recently approved by the board of education The plans and specifications, prepared by Charles W Oborn, architect, were approved by the board at its last meeting

The plans call for a new low pressure steam heating system, new wiring and fluorescent lighting fixtures, new steel window sashes, new flooring and redecorating throughout the building in addition to construction of a new community room on the east side of the old building

New fire-proof stair-wells inside eight rooms of the old building will be constructed. At present four rooms have the inside stair-wells while the other eight have the old outside type

All the windows in the old building will be replaced with steel sash frames and the openings will be widened The redecorating will include painting the entire inside of the old structure

The new community room built as a annex to the old building will seat 250 people and will be equipped with a stage and kitchen for use by pupils and parent groups The new structure will be connected to the old by a covered passageway.

Additional plans are being drawn for construction of class rooms over the community room

The board has advertised for bids on the construction of the new annex and remodeling of the old structure Bids will be accepted at the school administration building until 12 noon July 25.

POLICE TO REVIEW BABY KILLING FACTS

By The Associated Press

MASSILLON, O, June 27—Police Chief Stanley W. Switter reported he would take all data connected with the killing of two infants in City hospital June 6 to Cleveland today for a review of the case with David L Cowles superintendent of the Cleveland police department.

He said he wanted to obtain a 'criminal analysis of the findings to date"

If Cowles feels he can be of assistance in helping solve the case, Switter added, he will be asked to come to Massillon for further review of the facts.

Switter said he did not consider this step an effort to obtain outside aid and that he merely was asking Cowles to review the matter

The babies, Rosemary Morton, 10 weeks and Diane J Brand, eight weeks, were discovered in their cribs dying of fractured skulls There have been no arrests in the case

Logan County Officials Act To Stop Gambling

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O, June 27—Officials today moved to stop gambling in Logan county.

Mary F Abel, county prosecutor, ordered Sheriff Ellsworth Palmer to stop all forms of gambling in the county immediately and 'not for a weekend, or a few days, but from here on out"

Sheriff Palmer said the prosecutor had called him into her office to deliver orally the order He said he would comply "100 per cent'

"I feel sure there will be no slot machines at Indian lake over the weekend," Sheriff Palmer declared and said he had talked with Russell Point and Lakeview village marshals, telling them the slot machines at the summer resort must be removed

Tells Club of Lukemia Plan

Foundation Head, Who Lost Son, Discusses Research Into Disease.

Arthur Krumboltz of Springfield, founder and president of the Jackie Krumboltz Foundation for Lukemia Research, was guest speaker at the dinner-meeting of the Exchange club held Thursday night at Hotel Harding

Mr. Krumboltz gave an account of the origin and development of the foundation which he started in March of 1945 following the death of his four-year-old son in August of 1944

The child had died of the disease and Mr Krumboltz spurred to action by the lsos started the fund to be ued for research, the first contribution being the contents of the child's piggy bank Actual research is now in progress under the direction of Dr George Sperti, dean of research of the national recognized Institutum Divi Thomae of Cincinnati.

He went on to explain that although leukemia is often referred to as a rare disease, it actually claims ten times as many victims annually as does infantile paralysis

The speaker said the foundation is seeking the support of the clubs and organizations of Marion and that he is anxious to contact individuals who have had deaths in their own families from the dreaded killer for which to date there is no known cure

The executive office for the foundation is located at 670 North Limestone street in Springfield Other organizers and trustees of the foundation are Monsignor Cletus A Miller president of the Institutum Divi Thomae and Benjamin S Schwartz, an attorney of Cincinnati

Also speaker on the program was Ralph Adams of the National Exchange club headquarters in Toledo He discussed club projects and the sponsorship programs which the various clubs undertake

Plans were made for an outing for member and their families to be held Sunday at Sandusky Bay

Minister Convicted Of Setting Fire to Church

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, June 27— Dr John Lewis, scholarly pastor-on-leave of the Calvary Presbyterian church, was convicted today by a jury of ten men and two women of a charge of having set a fire Jan 25 that did $150,000 damage to his church

The jury gave its verdict after actual deliberation of about eight hours

The state had charged that the 73-year old clergyman fired the church in order to obtain a "bigger and better' edifice The trial lasted for 16 days

Conviction of an arson charge in Wisconsin carries a maximum penalty of one to 10 years in prison.

U. S. Charges 3 Nations Violate Greek Borders

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, June 27—The United States today charged that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria had violated fundamental principles of the United Nations charter by "using force against the territorial integrity and political independence of Greece"

This accusation was made before the security council by Warren R. Austin, chief U S. delegate, as the council began debate on the voluminous report of the UN Balkan investigating commission

Upholding the commission's majority findings that the three Soviet satellite states had been aiding Guerrilla fighters in northern Greece, Austin said:

"They have in fact been committing the very kind of acts which the United Nations was designed to prevent, and have violated the most important of the basic principles upon which our organization was founded"

LOWER TRAFFIC TOLL AIM OF SAFETY GROUP

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, June 27—People trying to cut down the number of accidents on Ohio's city streets and county roads come here today to discuss ways of stepping up public interest in saving the lives of pedestrians and motorists

More than 300 city managers, police officials, safety and service directors, school superintendents, and auto club executives were expected for the meeting, the annual Ohio Traffic Safety conference

Murray D Shaffer, state highway director and general chairman of the conference, planned to offer suggestions for carrying out Ohio's share of the nationwide educational program announced at a meeting of the action program group of the president's highway safety conference in Washington last week

Governor Herbert was scheduled to receive from Wallace a plaque, Ohio's award for honorable mention in the 1946 national traffic contest. The governor then will present certificates to 15 Ohio cities, the winners and runners-up in the seven classes of the Ohio traffic safety contest.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back You don't have to starve yourself, eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Cronies Have Beautiful Dream About U. S.-Owned Shipyard

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 27—The two engineers at the government-owned St. John's river shipbuilding plant in Florida had a great big, beautiful dream.

Let us not be starry-eyed about it, fellow taxpayers. One of these dreamers died with more cash than he'd ever seen at one time before; the other currently is drawing down $25,000 a year—I wouldn't fool you—is trying to borrow $1,500,000 more of our money from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. But we'd better begin this dream at the beginning:

We spent our millions on the yard to build oil tankers during the war. Engineer Fred Weber worked for the shipbuilding company that operated the yard. Engineer David R. Knapp labored for the maritime commission, charged with protecting our money.

Couple of Cronies

Fred and Dave were cronies. They said wouldn't it be wonderful if they could get hold of the yard and turn it into one of the biggest steel mills in the south? They shook hands on it.

So the war ended, the maritime commission declared the yards surplus for sale to the highest bidder, and here was Fred—still on the payroll of the shipyard, but working also for the Florida Pipe and Supply Co., which wanted to buy the yard.

And there was good old Dave, still employed by us—the taxpayers — but keeping Fred informed on the inventories inside the mighty plant.

So last winter, about the time Dave had his first stroke, Fred gave him $12,500 in cash as down payment on his share in the visionary steel company. Dave died soon thereafter and faithful Fred paid another $12,500 to his estates.

"But what did you get for this $25,000?" demanded Rep. Ross Rizley of Okla., chairman of a house investigating committee.

"Why, uh, I got an idea; a promotion scheme," replied the half-bald Fred. "And where did you get the money?" insisted the congressman.

Had an Arrangement

Fred said he got it from his arrangement with the pipe company, which had put him under contract at $25,000 a year, as a maker of deals.

Rep. Rizley said he thought Fred and poor Dave were crooks. He said he'd insist that the FBI get to the bottom of their beautiful dream.

This left Fred aghast. Crook? Him? goodness! The gentleman from Oklahoma calmed down a little than and Fred went on with his account of the dream. It got beautifuller and beautifuller.

Fred helped the pipe company get control of the Tampa Shipbuilding Co., which then bought the St. Johns yard (original cost $20,000,000) from the Maritime Commission for $1,926,000. The new owners found a gigantic pile of steel and machinery which wasn't included in the sale. Fred and his pals gave the government an extra $2,000 for the stuff; it had cost us (we can't dry our tears yet, taxpayers) a cool $200,000.

A new world aviation code is being worked out by 40 nations in order to further greater flying safety.

New Minister Gets Assignment in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, June 27—Rev. Franklin J. Klohn, who was ordained to the ministry Wednesday morning in Grace church, Sandusky, will preach his first sermon in Grace Episcopal church, Galion, June 29. He has been assigned to work with Canon Paul R. Savanack at Grace church, here, and after Aug. 1 he will be in residence at the rectory in Galion.

He will bring his bride to Galion to live. Rev. Klohn and Miss Ruth Eleanor Whiting of Philadelphia were married Wednesday afternoon by the Rt. Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, D. D., bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio, who also ordained Rev. Klohn Wednesday morning. The ceremony took place in Grace church, Sandusky, where Rev. Klohn was baptised, confirmed and ordained. He will be in charge of Good Shepherd mission, Mt. Gilead.

Rev. Klohn took his undergraduate work at Ohio university, Athens, and was graduated at Bexley Hall, theological department of Kenyon college, Gambier, last week with the degree of bachelor of divinity.

RECORD PEACH CROP IN SANDUSKY COUNTY

By The Associated Press

SANDUSKY, O., June 27—Orchardists in Erie, Ottawa and Sandusky counties, where more than half the state's entire production of peaches is centered, today predicted the biggest harvest in history.

In fact, peach trees are hanging so heavy with fruit that farmers are concerned about how to get rid of more than half the fruit now on trees.

"Normally peaches thin themselves," explained Frank Beach, extension horticulturist who is busy in the three counties showing growers how to get rid of surplus fruit.

"After the fruit sets there comes a period of stagnation during which the weaker fruit drops off the trees," Beach said. "It is nature's way of handling the situation, a survival-of-the-fittest proposition.

"But this year the set is so heavy that not enough is falling. Usually, after the June crop, all an orchardist need do is a little hand thinning to insure a maximum number of large peaches. Trees this year are running well over 10,000 peaches to the tree, and if the farmers left them all on, the ripe fruit would be about the size of an English walnut."

A shortage of labor available to do the thinning job is complicating the problem, reported Joe Di Franco, Erie county agent.

"National Emergency" Clause In New Labor Law Explained

(This is the fourth of six stories on the highlights of the new labor law.)

* * *

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 26—Aimed at coal mining, the new labor law's formula for averting "national emergency" strikes can be applied to few other industries safe steel, oil and machinery consists of an injunction to delay the strike, a public finding of facts by a presidential board, a secret strike vote of union members and, finally, referral of the dispute to congress for action.

Government labor experts don't believe this would be applied to shutdowns or threatened shutdowns in such industries as shipping, electric power, telephones, automobiles.

The first test of the machinery may come in the soft coal industry, getting set for another possible shutdown July 7, after the miners have had a ten-day vacation which started today, June 27.

The government must give the mines, which it seized last year, back to the owners July 1, when its wartime authority to run them expires.

Wording of the law exempts most strikes.

For the President to set in motion the emergency steps, the dispute must affect "an entire industry or a substantial part thereof" and; also, "imperil the national health and safety." The President decides what disputes meet this test.

House Provision Knocked Out

The house wanted to add "or public interest," but this was knocked out. With it went the likelihood of action in such industries as automobiles.

The motor industry involves "public interest" because of its vast weight in the economy. But its shutdown would not immediately endanger the national health and safety.

The phrasing appears to block intervention in most strikes which affect a single city or company. For example:

A transit strike: strikes involving industries which bargain on a local basis, like the building trades; and those not directly connected with national defense or the supplying of such necessities as food and warmth.

Coal mines, oil refineries and packing-houses appear to fall readily into the "national emergency" category because the public depends upon them so much. The steel industry seems to be in this class, too, because a shutdown in steel slows up the nation's whole economy.

Effects of a shipping strike would be felt much more slowly, though the cut-off of needed imports might eventually prompt presidential action.

Some Action Unlikely

An automobile industry strike—now that the nation is well past the threat of a transportation breakdown—is not believed likely to draw prompt government intervention.

Neither is a telephone dispute, on the basis of the April-May strike experience. The government could intervene after the strike was under way, if the stoppage actually cut off communications vital to health and safety.

A power plant walkout probably would not provoke federal intervention unless it affected an entire region, like New England or the Pacific northwest—in other words, a "substantial" part of the industry.

Briefly, the new machinery to avert "national emergency" strikes works like this:

The President, after getting a report on the dispute from a board of inquiry, orders the attorney general to seek an injunction—a court order—preventing a strike or lockout.

The court order may run for 80 days. But after 60 days the board of inquiry makes a final, public report to the president.

In the next 15 days the national labor relations board take a poll of the workers to determine whether they want to accept the employer's final offer. In the remaining five days the results of the poll are reported to the attorney general, who must then ask the end of the injunction.

Strikes Can Continue

This permits the strike to go ahead, if the dispute continues despite the court order, the investigation, the delay and the publicity.

The President then turns the dispute over to congress for action. Congress would have to pass a law, for it has no other weapon.

Two features, little noted when the law was under debate, add "teeth" to the emergency procedure. They are:

First, the board of inquiry can examine the books of a company or union.

Second, the secret ballot must be taken plant-by-plant. In other words, each local union votes whether to accept its own employer's offer. This may be a serious blow at industrywide bargaining.

Congress, in setting itself up as the last point in the settlement machinery, may go farther than ever before as a court of final judgement in industrial relations. The mere threat of such intervention, they believe, may be a powerful factor for settlement.

The largest ocean steamers can travel 1,000 miles up the Amazon during the period of low water.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Hardening of Arteries

It has often been said that "A man is as old as his arteries." And it is true that chronic heart, blood vessel and kidney diseases, which cause about 48 per cent of all deaths in the 50-to-80-year age group, are usually due to hardening of the arteries or arteriosclerosis.

Arteriosclerosis may affect any of the areas of the body. It causes disease when it seriously interferes with the blood supply to such important organs as the heart, brain, or kidneys. No organ can work without the oxygen and nourishment brought to it by the blood. When the blood supply is cut down below normal day after day and week after week as it is in arteriosclerosis, permanent damage is sure to result and with this injury comes disease.

Just why arteries harden is still one of the mysteries of medicine, nor do we know why hardening should occur four times as frequently in men as in women. Though it usually comes on after the age of 40, many doctors are convinced that it is not simply a part of growing old but due to definite disease.

The symptoms produced by arteriosclerosis will depend upon which of the areas are chiefly affected. With hardening of the coronary arteries, which supply the heart with blood, there may be such conditions as angina pectoris or spasm of the coronary arteries, with attacks of pain over the heart and insufficient supply of blood to the heart muscles, producing death of some of the muscle tissue.

In men over forty, any pain in the chest, neck or arms which is produced by physical effort should suggest that angina pectoris may be present, and a careful examination should be made including electrocardiography or electric tracing of the heart beat. With the proper treatment of angina pectoris, life may be prolonged for a considerable time. The patient should not be overexcited about his condition, but his activities should be limited so as to put no excessive strain on the heart.

Hardening of the arteries of the brain may lead to the cutting down of the blood supply to the brain tissue and interfere with mental functions.

Hardening of the arteries in the legs causes pain in the muscles of the calf on walking. The development of ulcers or sores may occur, or even gangrene or death of the tissue.

Unfortunately, up to the present time, no method has been found of checking arteriosclerosis or for relieving it once it has developed. However, the condition which it produces may be kept under control by careful treatment and regulation of activities.

RESIGNS PASTORATE

Following his recent appointment as General Presbyter for the Columbus, Marion and Zanesville Presbyteries of the Presbyterian church, Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins of London has resigned his pulpit at First Presbyterian church there, a news release from The Associated Press stated today. His position is that of general overseer of the three Presbyteries. This administrative capacity includes supervision of various boards of the church, supplying pulpits, counseling, and handing down to churches information concerning new policies and activities of the General Assembly of the denomination. There are approximately 30 churches in the Marion Presbytery.

Attend Showing Of New Farm Tractor

SABENS HOLDS DODGERS TO 4 HITS AS CUBS WIN 6 TO 2

Forbes and Hollingshead Hit Timely With Runners on Base

By DON C. BURTON

The Marion Cubs backed up Lefty Jim Sabens' four-hit pitching with timely hitting to defeat the Zanesville Dodgers 6 to 2 in the opening game of a five-game series at Lincoln park last night before 1,646 fans.

First baseman Jim Forbes and second sacker Roy Hollingshead led the Cubs at the plate. Forbes cracked out two timely triples with a man on base each time. Hollingshead got four hits, including a triple, in four times up for a perfect night at bat. Roy also was outstanding in the field as he handled seven chances flawlessly. He made the game's outstanding fielding play when he leaped high for a backhanded catch of a liner from the bat of Dabek in the sixth to nip a Dodger rally.

Sabens had allowed only one hit until the eighth inning when Belcastro's pop fly to right field hit a wire and left fielder Bob Shuford looking helpless as the pellet bounced way from his reach for a double.

With two away Sandy Luberto hit a liner to left center that went for a triple when Dwight Maxhimer fell as he went to head off the ball, Belcastro scoring the first run for the Dodgers. Luberto tried for a home run on the play but was thrown out at the plate, Nelson to Bobzean to Burbrink.

Last Dodger Run

The Dodgers got their final run in the ninth when Ken Lein, who had the first hit off Saben in the fourth, singled and moved to third when Sabens gave up walks to Poppinka and Taylor, hitting for Lambert. With the bases full Morris Mikesell hit into a fast double play, Hollingshead to Bobzean to Forbes, Lien scoring.

The Cubs got all their runs in pairs. The first duo came in the second frame. Nelson got a life on an error by Lien and scored on the first of Jim Forbes' two triples. Forbes later scored on the second of Hollingshead's four hits.

The second pair of runs were tallied in the sixth. Shuford was safe at first on a wild throw by Luberto and then a triple by Hollingshead counted the runs.

A triple also accounted for the two runs in the eighth. With one out Sabens beat out a roller to third for a hit and moved up on Hollingshead's fourth hit. They both scored on Bobzean's triple.

The win last night gave Sabens his fourth victory against one loss. The Arcola, Ill., southpaw struckout 10 and walked nine. Cy Lambert, the Dodgers' leading hurler, also sent 10 Cubs back to the dugout on the long walk after missing a third strike. He walked seven.

One Game Tonight

The two clubs meet again in a single game tonight. John Edington will be on the mound for the Cubs. He has won two games in succession for a record of seven wins and six defeats.

The parents of Jim Sabens were here to see their son pitch and the little lefthander came up with one of his good games. He showed the Dodgers a sneaky fast ball and a sharp breaking curve. He retired the side on strikes in the first inning and again in the fifth.

Dwight Maxhimer, one of the power hitters of the league, returned to the Marion lineup last night after his injury at Muncie June 15 when he was hit in the ribs by a fast ball while at bat. With a lefthander facing the Cubs, Manager Burbrink used Nelson, who raised his average to .300 while on the road, in left field. When a righthander works

BLACKWELL WINS ELEVENTH IN ROW

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, June 27—The Cincinnati Reds were fifth in the National league standings today after defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-3, here last night as Ewell Blackwell notched his 11th straight win and 12th of the season with an eight-hit performance.

When the Cards scored in the second inning. They snapped at 20 Blackwell's string of scoreless innings started against the New York Giants June 14 and continued through his no-hitter against Boston June 18 and the shutout over Brooklyn last Sunday.

Frankie Baumholtz was the only Redleg who failed to get one of 13 hits off Harry (The Cat) Brecheen. Benny Zientara sparked the assault with three for five while Bert Haas, the league's top hitter, got two for five.

The Reds scored twice in the first inning on three St. Louis errors and Babe Young's double to left center and stayed in front the rest of the way. After adding another in the sixth, they uncorked a four-hit, three-run outburst that chased Brecheen to the showers in the ninth.

Horse Owned Here Suffers Broken Leg

Jean Val Jean, owned by George Wright of Marion, definitely will be unable to race again this year and may never run again, according to a report by the the horse's owner.

The horse suffered a compound fracture of its right front leg at Troy Tuesday, while working out for an event Wednesday night. It was taken to the University clinic at Columbus where the leg was set in a cast.

At Troy the horse had came in second in one dash and in stake races had placed third and fifth. The horse also was entered in the Little Grand Circuit meet which starts in Marion Tuesday night.

WEST END EAST MEET

KALAMAZOO, Mich., June 27—California and Yale, collegiate champions of the east and west, clash today in collegiate baseball's "world series," and it will be a contest of one outstanding pitcher with only fair replacements against five flingers of approximately equal ability.

Levine-Fox "Go" on WMRN Tonight

Fox, after a string of 45 kayo wins, ran into his first reverse six weeks ago when he found Gus Lesnevich, the champ, too seasoned. Since then, however, he has added two more knockouts to his list.

This is Levine's first start in the 175-lb. division. Artie is a sharp clouter and is capable of putting over a crusher that has nailed many a foe to the canvas. The Brooklynite will be outweighed by a few pounds but boxing men figure he'll make up for that with superior boxing skill.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WMRN (1490 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

And remember, men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Final Plans Shaping Rapidly For Opening of Races Tuesday

Final plans for the Little Grand Circuit race meet are moving ahead rapidly as opening night of the July 1 to 19 event looms on the Marion sport horizon, only four days away.

The program of night racing starts at the fairground Tuesday night with eight races, featured by the WMRN 20-trot $1,000 stake.

All other events will be for a $400 purse. They are a Maiden pace, 26-trot, 17-pace, 25-pace, 22-trot, and 14-trot.

Winner of the stake event will be determined in two dashes.

Such oustanding drivers as Doc McMillen of London behind Bell Play, Ed Dunwoody, fresh from Lancaster where he was a featured stunt driver in the movie, "The Green Grass of Wyoming," driving True Direct, Jake Mahoney of the Sanders Mills Stables of Toledo, who has been driving on the west coast, behind J. G. Blackstone, Byron Perry of Richwood, with Brewster, and others will attempt to pilot to take the $1,000 purse.

There will be no Sunday racing during the Marion stand. A program will be presented in the afternoon and night July 4.

Par Takes Beating In Chicago Tourney

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 27—Par was near complete pulverization as pace-setter Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and 75 other swingers leveled off today in the second 18-hole round of the $15,900 Chicago Victory national golf tournament.

No fewer than 29 performers, including three amateurs exploded par-bettering scores over the 71-stroke standard westward ho course yesterday as Snead bounced back from a hart-breaking U. S. open setback with an eight-under-par 63.

George Payton, 24-year-old Hampton, Va., shooter, who gradually has been improving in the 1947 pro circuit, shot a 65.

Unless the weather does a complete turn-about, the four-day grind of 72-hold stroke play is destined to shatter the victory open record of 273 set by Ben Hogan and Harold (Jug) McSpaden in 1944.

Hogan, Herman Kaiser, Bob Hamilton, Fred Haas, Cary Middlecoff, Ellsworth Vines and Toney Penna all are within five strokes of Snead.

Six strokes behind Snead at 69 were nine players including the top amateur, Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., former national collegiate champion, and professionals Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz, Jackson Bradley, Bob Stupple, Chick Harbert, Ed Furgol, George Schoux and Bill Nary.

Long-driving Harbert with his 34-35 did better than Jim Ferrier of San Francisco to whom he lost in the finals of the National PGA Tuesday. Ferrier was among seven players who matched par 71 with 36-35.

BROOKLYN (Dexter Park)—Bill Weinberg, 212, Boston, outpointed Howard Chard, 212½, Scranton, Pa., 8.

GETTEL HELPS SOLVE PITCHING PROBLEMS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 27—Al Gettel, a husky right hander obtained from the New York Yankees in a trade last winter, apparently has solved a major part of the Cleveland Indians' hurling problems.

Gettel fashioned a fine performance last night, and the Indians rewarded him with good clutch hitting to defeat the Chicago White Sox 5 to 1 and regain an undisputed hold on fourth place.

Gettel gave up only four hits and lost a shutout in the eighth when pinch-hitter Taft Wright drew a walk and Floyd Baker came through with a triple. Not a Chicago runner had advanced beyond second until that stage of the clash.

The Indians made nine hits off Southpaw Frank Papish, and clinch the game in the sixth when Ken Keltner singled and Jim Hegan slammed his third home run of the season into the left field stands.

The only sour note of the game was an injury to Hal Peck, hustling right fielder, who was hit on the hand by one of Papish's fast balls in the seventh. While the injury was not considered serious, Peck will have X-ray pictures taken today.

Shovel and Schlairet Win in Night Games

Marion Power Shovel and Schlairet took night league softball tilts at Crystal Lake park last night.

Shovel beat Huber, 5-1, behind Wilcox's three-hit pitching. Fritz Walters led Shovel hitters with two for four and Miley of the Huber crew homered in the seventh to give that squad its lone score.

Schlairet pounded out a 11-3 win over Marion Metal. Mulvane led Schlairet hitters with three and the feat was duplicated by VanScoy of Marion Metal.

HARRY SHORT WINS

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., June 27—Gene Abbe, owned and driven by Harry Short of Columbus, O., ran off with the Sylvania, featured three-year-old trot, last night at the Toledo Fort Miami raceway grand circuit meet. Volotone, from the Castleton farms of Lexington, Ky., came up with a pair of victories in the $1,500 three-year-old trot.

PUCCI ENROLLS IN U.S.C.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 27—Ralph Pucci, 165-pound halfback and former All-Ohio selection from Canton's McKinley High school, has announced he will enroll at the University of Southern California this fall. Pucci's family recently moved here.

Changes Due at Top of P.G.A

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., June 27—Patter picked up at the PGA, or dissand data from Detroit:

You may start looking for lots of changes in the upper brackets of the Professional Golfers association, as well as in the set-up of the annual play-for-pay tournament.

The chances are that the "on the spot" qualifying round, in which 64 are named for match play, will be done away with in the near future, and that 128 qualifiers from all sections of the country will dash immedately into play.

• • •

Byron Nelson, still rated the No. 1 golfer in the country although he has retired from the competitive field, is one of the many favoring a change. Byron would like to see the 18-hole first and second round matches eliminated from the classic, and all scraps settle on a 36-hole basis.

The 18-holers at Detroit caused the downfall of such stars as champion Ben Hogan, medalist Jim Demaret, African Champ Bobby Locke, slammer Sam Snead, and several others. As they bowed out, much of the tourney's glamour disappeared with them.

Ed Dudley, president of the association, came up with more than a strong hint that he might relinguish that office soon, and Fred Corcoran, who has served as tournament bureau manager and press agent de luxe for a decade, is definitely due for another job.

Dudley is another opponent of the 36-hole qualifier at the scene of the tournament, although he would retain the 18-hole matches.

"The fans like to see the boys knocked over once in while," Dudley said, "and the unknown has a better chance against the name player over the 36 course. Practically all the upsets occur in the 18-holers, and I think they add a lot to the event."

Nelson's idea is that the tournament is for the purpose of getting the country's best players into the championship brackets and that the best way to assure getting a real champion is to stretch all matches to 36 holes.

• • •

All agreed, however, that Jim Ferrier, the 32-year-old Australian, deserved the title he won. He finished far under par for the long route, and it was doubtful if the hot-shots could have taken his measure even if they had survived the "sudden death" 18-holers.

Ferrier came up with the top yarn of the tourney, too.

"I was over in England for the British open," Ferrier said, "Although I was from Australia, I was looked on as a foreigner. One day I arrived early at the golf club, and strolled into the lounge. Only one elderly gentleman was there, reading a newspaper.

"I walked to a window, looked out, and then turned to the gentleman with 'It looks as it if might rain, doesn't it?'

The Englishman, lowered his paper, looked at me coldly, and then pressed a button near his chair. A moment later a waiter appeared at his side and asked: 'Did you ring, sir?'

"And the old fellow, nodding toward me, answered: 'Yes, this gentleman would like to discuss the weather'."

DeRose Gets First No-Hitter for Blues Since 1913

By The Associated Press

Carl DeRose, Kansas City's big right-handed pitcher, was firmly enshrined in the American association's hall of fame today after fashioning a perfect no-hit game last night to shut out Minneapolis 5 to 0. He was the first Blues hurler to pitch a no-hitter in an AA game since Jim (Hippo) Vaughn shut out Toledo in 1913.

DeRose, who had been bothered by a sore arm all season, retired 27 men in order, allowing no bases on balls. He threw only 93 pitches, slightly more than 10 an inning. His 27th victim was Babe Barna, Miller slugger, who worked the count to three and two, with two out in the ninth, and then struck out.

The league leaders gave DeRose perfect support with Cliff Mapes driving in three of the Blues five runs—two with his twelfth home run of the year. The victory gave Kansas City a six game lead over second place Louisville.

In other games last night Columbus defeated Indianapolis twice, Milwaukee nosed out St Paul to 3 to 2 and Toledo downed Louisville 8 to 6.

Charley Stanceau pitched four-hit ball for Columbus to cop the seven-inning opener in which only one Indian reached second base after the first inning. Ken Johnson repeated Stanceau's performance in the regulation second contest, allowing only four hits. Don Lang clouted a two run homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap to break a 1-all tie and clinch the game for the Red Birds.

Toledo led Louisville 7 to 2 going into the last of the eighth but the Colonels came back to narrow the gap with a four run rally.

Manager Clay Bryant's percentage strategy worked in his favor in the opening inning last night. With Hollingshead on third and Smith on second with two out and Manager Nelson Burbrink, the league's top man in runs batted in, at the plate, the Zanesville skipper ordered Lambert to walk Burbrink. The Dodgers got out of the hole when Shuford struck out.

Upper Hand Held By Pitchers in O. S. Loop Games

Pitchers held the upper hand last night when the Ohio State league launched a redesigned schedule that will carry the class D circuit through until Sept 21—two weeks beyond the originally scheduled finish.

Southpaw Jim Sabens served up a four-hitter for Marion's second-place Cubs in the five-game series opener with the leading Zanesville club, winning 6-2.

Scattering seven hits at Lima, Newark's Bill Woolard coasted to an 11 to 2 victory over the Terriers. Johnny Batt Brownie first sacker homered to head the winners' 12-hit attack. A Shrine night crowd of 2,936, Lima's largest of the season, watched the contest.

Wally Post 17-year-old Muncie Parker hurler, got credit for a 7 to 4 triumph over Springfield's Giants. Post came on the scene at the start of the second inning, after starter Ray Prava had been touched for three runs. Four of the Giants eight hits were credited to catcher Ben Haddix.

The schedule-revision unintentionally caused postponement of the Richmond Roses game at Dayton. Before the schedule change was announced, Dayton's Hudson field operators had contracted for an American Negro league contest because the Indians originally were scheduled away. Dayton and Richmond will make up the postponement Monday night.

Robinson Comes Through To Keep Dodgers in Race

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn first baseman, has come through under extreme pressure to become an important factor in the Dodgers' rise to the National League lead.

Batting .302 after last night's 8-6 thrilling win over Boston, Robinson rates with the best rookies of the season.

Through the west, it was Robinson's batting that started the Brooklyn club on a victory string that now measures eight out of nine. In Pittsburgh he stole home against Fritz Ostermueller with a tie-breaking run.

Jackie Starts Splurge

After Boston, fighting desperately to hold first place, rallied for five runs to tie the Dodgers, 6-6, at Ebbets Field last night, Robinson's eighth inning double started the victorious two-run splurge.

Billy Southworth threw 18 Braves into the fray with the loss finally being charged to the veteran Si Johnson while Ralph Branca accepted his 10th win for 11 3 innings of work.

Chicago lost ground in the race by Pittsburgh's Ernie Bonham's 8-0 shutout victory. It was the second straight whitewash job for the stout ex-Yankee, since manager Billy Herman made him a starter, and his fifth win to one loss. Rookie Doyle Lade was the chief victim of the 10-hit assault that included Ralph Kiner's 14th homer.

Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell dumped St Louis' Harry Brecheen, 6-3 for his 12th victory.

Yankees Halted

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics halted the New York Yankees win streak at six with a 4-2 decision. Rookie Joe Coleman, whose only previous win was a shutout of the Yanks on Decoration day, obliged with a seven-hit effort despite Joe DiMaggio's ninth homer. Sam Chapman touched up Allie Reynolds for his fifth homer to make up for DiMaggio's.

Washington thumped the Boston Red Sox, 7-3, hopping on reliefer Earl Johnson in a four-run seventh inning. Bobo Newsom who gave way to Tom Ferrick in the eighth due to a twisted ankle was credited with his fourth success.

Al Gettel hurled his second complete game in a Cleveland uniform, a four-hitter against Chicago 5-1. Gettel had a two-hit shutout until the eighth.

St Louis and Detroit were not scheduled.

Clinics Completed In Wyandot Co. Schools

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 27—Pre-school clinics in Wyandot county schools were completed this week, with a total of 330 children examined, according to Dr L W Naus county health commissioner. Dr Naus was assisted by Mrs Ruby McPike and Miss Bernadine Courtad, county health department nurses. Reports of the clinics show that dental and throat disorders predominate as was the case in previous years. A balanced diet at home was credited with prevention of malnutrition in pre-school children.

No cases of polio or smallpox were reported to the health office during the past year.

County nurses will test vision and hearing two weeks after school starts next fall. The tuberculosis patch test will also be given to the first, seventh and twelfth grades. The test is not compulsory.

Closing Memorial Program Set at Fort Hayes Sunday

Special to The Star

FORT HAYES, COLUMBUS, Colonel John E. McMahon Jr., commanding officer, Fort Hayes, and executive, Ohio military district, has announced that the gates of historic Fort Hayes will be opened wide for a public memorial program on Sunday afternoon, June 29, commemorating the abandonment of Fort Hayes by the United States Army.

This full afternoon program will be in keeping with the traditional Sunday band concerts and baseball games so familiar to thousands of residents of Columbus and central Ohio. Activities will begin at approximately 1 p. m. with a softball game between Fort Hayes and the Kroger Baking Company team of the Central Industrial League. Highlights of the afternoon program will include concerts by the celebrated 100-piece United States Army Ground Forces' band, which will arrive from Washington, D. C. for this occasion, and the Lockbourne Army Air Base band of 50 pieces.

At approximately 2:30 p. m. a regular baseball game will be played between the Etna, Ohio and the Rickley Sausage teams, both from the Heart of Ohio League.

Program of Talks

A short memorial speaking program will begin at approximately 4:30 p. m. from the steps of the main Headquarters building facing the flag and center parade field. Invited guest speakers include Governor Thomas A. Herbert, governor of Ohio, James A. Rhodes, mayor of Columbus, and Brigadier General Chester Goble, adjutant general of the state of Ohio.

It is anticipated that Lt. General Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding general, Second United States Army and famed wartime Pacific hero, will be present for the ceremonies.

The Fort Hayes flag, sympolic of the transfer of Fort Hayes to the National Guard of Ohio, will be Presented to Brigadier General Goble by Colonel John E. McMahon.

Closing Ceremony

An Army retreat ceremony will complete the afternoon's program. After the cannon is fired and the National anthem is being played the flag will be lowered. At approximately this same time every afternoon a cannon has been fired and the flag lowered at Fort Hayes since 1803. Following the Retreat ceremony, taps will be sounded and a prayer will be offered by Colonel Frederick Kirker, wartime chaplain of the Ohio 37th Division in the Pacific area.

Adequate parking space will be available in the fort and traffic will be regulated by Military Police and Boy Scouts. All three gates will be open to two-way traffic; namely, the main gate on Buckingham street, the Cleveland avenue gate, and the east gate on Jefferson avenue.

On Feb. 17, 1863 the United States of America came into possession of the acreage now known as Fort Hayes, although the war department had been using this property since sometime in 1861. The land was originally a part of the old Neil estate, and the ultimate transfer to the government was made by Robert and Jeanette Neil for a cash consideration of $16,000.

First Building

The first building was completed in 1864, and is now known as the Tower, deriving its name from the days when it was used as a shot tower. The exact dates of construction of other early buildings are not definitely known, although it is known that a magazine experimental building, some non-commissioned officers' quarters, and a gate house were all completed shortly after construction of the Tower.

In the days following the Civil war there was little military activity and the installation was used mostly for storage of materiel, including shot. On Sept. 24, 1875, however, the post was transferred to the general recruiting service and business began to pick up.

The post was redeveloped into a Recruit Reception Center in 1937, and in 1942 the Fifth Corps Area was redesignated as the Fifth Service Command.

During World War II, approximately 200,000 selectees were processed at the post. At the peak of its activity, Fort Hayes had a capacity of about 2,000 officers and men. Included in the 70 acres of Fort Hayes land are 61 buildings which are used as living quarters for officers and enlisted men. There are in addition 33 office buildings, 15 warehouses and 32 miscellaneous buildings, such as garages, etc.

SWINDLERS START SENTENCE. En route to Sing Sing prison, Julius (Jimmy Collins) Lobel (left) and Irving Cohen hide behind magazines as they arrive at Criminal Courts building, New York. Collins drew a 20 to 40 year sentence and Cohen a 7 to 20 year sentence for their part in the $600,000 Mergenthaler Linotype company swindle. Collins has refused to reveal where his share of the loot is hidden.

Boston Theology Plan Of Training Discussed

By The Associated Press

LAKESIDE, O., June 27 — Alumni of the Boston University School of Theology were told today how their school was to participate in a plan for better training of Methodist ministers.

Dr. William H. Stewart, professor of practical theology at the school, described the plan at a dinner meeting in connection with the sessions of the northeast Ohio conference of the Methodist church.

"The church has now come to see that it must have a real share in the support of institutions where their leadership trains youth," said Dr. Stewart.

"Recognizing this fact, the Methodist crusade for Christ Committee has offered the Boston university school of theology, which is the oldest Methodist theological school in America, one-third of a million dollars, provided it can raise two-thirds of a million dollars by next January first, 1948. It has also appointed a committee to study theological seminaries, and report to the general conference methods which can be used to strengthen them," he continued.

Father and Six Sons Serving in Ministry

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 27—At the close of a family reunion service in St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran church last night, the Rev. George A. Naumann said his family keynote was "may the Lord be served."

As he stood in the pulpit, his six sons were at his side. All had taken part in the worship service.

Like their father, all are ministers—one the pastor of St. Luke's, the Rev. George R. Naumann. He was ordained seven years ago, the last of the sons to enter the ministry.

The others were Otto E. of Houston, Tex.; Gerhard T., of Cisco, Tex.; Gottfried H., of Gary, Ind.; John G. P. missionary to India, and Martin J., Altamont, Ill.

A seventh son, William T., was studying for ministry at Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo., when he was killed in a traffic accident.

Of four daughters, two are married to ministers.

ILLNESS IS FATAL TO MRS. EDMUND BENZLER

Dies in Columbus: Funeral Here Sunday.

Mrs. Lena Leila Benzler, wife of Edmund Benzler of Marion Route No. 2, Union county, died in the home of relatives in Columbus at 8:30 last night. She had been ill since last fall and had been in Columbus since early this year.

Surviving with her husband are brothers and sisters, Frank Pierce of Cambridge, O., Sylvan Pierce of Oakland, Calif., Heber Pierce of St. Ignatius, Mont., Mrs. Bertha M. Norman of Mooseheart, Ill., and Miss Viola Pierce of Columbus.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Boyd and Uncapher funeral home on West Columbia street by C. P. Stotler of Crooksville. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

Farmers Ask Better Service from Radio

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 27—Better radio service from farm listeners was asked today in a petition sent to the federal communications commission by the Ohio Farm Bureau federation.

Perry L. Green, bureau president, said a four point resolution from the board of trustees would be presented to the FCC when it resumes clear channel hearings in July.

Green said the Bureau feels farmers are being under-served by radio broadcasts designed primarily for the "big metropolitan markets."

Ohio Town Wants To Change Name, Picks Baseball

By International News Service

LANCASTER, O., June 26—Preliminary legal steps were taken today to give the United States its first town named after the traditional national game—Baseball.

A petition was filed in Fairfield county common pleas court at Lancaster seeking official sanction to change the name of the nearby combined villages of Baltimore and Basil to Baseball. Judge Harry Kilbourger set Sept. 9 for a public hearing.

Furor over a name started when the two villages merged since neither wanted the name of the other to be used. Sports fans started a movement to name it after the diamond sport, using the first syllable of each of the old names.

The petition filed today bore 12 names, but atatched to it were 15 additional petitions with the signatures of 600 of the combined villages' 1,400 adults.

In legal terminology, the petition pointed out three reasons for adopting the new name. It said it would be different from the name of any other town in the United States, that commercial and industrial benefits would come by avoiding confusion with the many Baltimores in the nation and, furthermore, three-quarters of the population favored the change.

Cities Authorized To Acquire Parking Lots

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 27—Ohio cities are authorized to condemn property to be used for off-street parking lots under a measure signed by Gov. Herbert late yesterday.

Under the measure, cities may buy the property by condemnation proceedings, and must sell it within two years to some private person or corporation. The bill, which becomes law in 90 days, specifies the property must be used as a parking lot for ten years.

Other bills signed would:

Provide that all liquor permits held by one person shall expire on the same day.

Increase from three to five membership on the public accountancy licensing board, limiting membership to one term, and prohibit more than one member from any one accounting firm.

Authorize the six state supported universities to establish housing commissions with authority to purchase land and construct dormitories and other housing facilities.

MAJOR HURLEY GRADUATED FROM FT. KNOX SCHOOL

Former Star Employe Completes Armored Training.

Major Emerson F. Hurley, a former employe of The Star, has been graduated from the armored school at Ft. Knox, Ky., according to a news report from the armored center where he had been attending since last September. He received instructions in the operation, maintenance and tactical employment of tracked and wheeled vehicles.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hurley of near Williamsport, O., Major Hurley was made a reserve officer while attending Ohio State university. Prior to being called to active service, he worked as a linotype operator.

Recalled to duty Dec. 18, 1940, Major Hurley served 18 months overseas and took part in the Normandy invasions and battles of the Rhineland and Ardennes. He was wounded and taken prisoner by the Germans who left him at a first aid center for treatment. He was freed three hours later when his unit, the Fifth Armored Division, moved up. He is the holder of the Bronze Star, Purple Heart and Silver Star Medals. Major Hurley and his wife and children lived on South Grand avenue and Hill street when employed here.

OIL STOCKS EDGE TO HIGHER GROUND

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 27 — Oil stocks edged into new high grounds today but many market leaders were depressed by light selling.

Dealings reverted to sluggishness after a fairly active opening and mild irregularity ruled near the fourth hour.

Short covering and timid investment demand were based partly on hopes for a coal mine peace. With thousands of workers idle, however, and heavy industry generally threatened by growing fuel shortages, numerous customers trimmed accounts. Weekend adjustments also were a retarding influence. Oils still were buoyed by the bright earnings outlook in this field.

At 1947 tops—some eventually slipped—were Standard Oil (NJ), Seaboard Oil, Standard Oil of Cal., Shamrock Oil, Texas Pacific Coal & Oil and Northern Natural Gas. The last-named was spurred by splitup proposal. Ahead at intervals were Chrysler, Deere, Sperry, Boeing, North American, Electric Power & Light, Southern Railway, N. Y. Central, Sears Roebuck and J. C. Penney. American Telephone dropped a point or so. Backward were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Norfolk & Western, Santa Fe and Pennsylvania Railroad.

HONOR FOR COMIC ARTIST. Milton Caniff, the famous artist who draws the Steve Canyon comic strip which appears in nearly 500 newspapers, is pictured with his wife during a stopover in Cleveland enroute to Idaho Springs, Colo., where Caniff will take part in the official opening of Steve Canyon, a real canyon. The Caniffs stand before an airliner which carries the name, "Horizons Unlimited," the C-54 in Caniff's strip.

A straying lamb and, figuratively, a straying man are rescue from the dangers of strange places in "The Lost Sheep," a tale to be dramatized during the ABC broadcast of The Greatest Story Ever Told over ABC on Sunday at 5:30 p. m. The drama is in the form of a parable told by The Master 2,000 years ago in answer to a query by two doubting men who wonder why sinners are included among His followers since He preaches only the virtues.

The play is based on a quotation from Matthew 18:12: "How think ye? If a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them go astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?"

Four Metropolitan Opera stars will sing the principal roles in "Lohengrin," first of the Cincinnat summer opera productions to be aired over WLW, Sunday from 9:45 p. m., to conclusion, direct from the outdoor pavilion at the Cincinnati Zoo. "Lohengrin" is one of five summer operas scheduled for broadcast on consecutive Sunday evenings. Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be conducted by Fausto Cleva. Rose Bampton will sing the Elsa role, Frederick Jagel is cast as Lohengrin, Astrid Varnay portrays Ortrud, and Nicola Moscona takes the role of Henry, king of Germany.

HELD BY FBI. William Hungerford (above), 16-year-old schoolboy, leaves federal court in New York after he was held without bail for removal to Detroit, Mich., on a complaint charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder. Edward Scheidt FBI special agent in charge of the New York office, said Hungerford "vertally admitted the murder of John C. Small," a Detroit tavern owner on June 3.

BURKE WANTS BAN ON INJURED FIGHTERS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 27—Mayor Thomas A. Burke said today he would ask the Cleveland boxing commission to consider the advisability of establishing a rule prohibiting any boxer with a medical record of a previous head injury from appearing in a local ring.

The mayor's recommendation was an aftermath of the tragic death of Jimmy Doyle, 22-year-old Californian who was knocked out by Welterweight Champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson in the eighth round of a title bout here Tuesday night.

Boxing Commissioner Andrew G. Putka concurred with Burke's recommendation and said he would call a special meeting of the commission to take appropriate action.

Burke also asserted his conviction that the commission must take all possible steps to increase precautions against any more unfortunate accidents in Cleveland boxing and further stated that all efforts must be made to insure the most modern and thorough pre-fight medical examinations of contestants.

Eddie Delaney, Doyle's 20-year-old brother, (Doyle was his ring alias) came here to make arrangements to return the body to California.

"Our family is heartbroken by the tragedy," Delaney said. "My mother and dad begged Jimmy not to go back to the ring after he was injured in the Levine bout."

Doyle suffered a brain concussion March 11 a year ago when he was knocked out by middleweight Artie Levine.

The coroner said he had absolved Robinson of all blame in the death and that the champion was free to leave town.

Robinson said today he wanted to appear in a benefit bout for the Los Angeles boxer's parents. He discussed the possibilities of such a bout with Paul Doyle, Jimmy's manager, and Louis Munnio, long-time friend of the dead fighter. The fight would be held in Los Angeles.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE

In the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, No. 15955.

Dorothy I. Werley, Administratrix of the Estate of Anna T. Curran, deceased, Plaintiff, vs. Arthur B. Curran, et al, Defendants.

In pursuance of the order of the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, I will offer for sale at public auction on the 12th day of July, 1947 at 10:00 o'clock a. m., eastern standard time, at the east door of the Courthouse of Marion County, Ohio, the following described real property situated in the State of Ohio, County of Marion and City of Marion, to-wit:

Known as being part of lot number eight (8), (new number thereof being three hundred and thirty-five (335) in Sloan's Second Addition to the Village, now City, of Marion, Ohio and bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at a point in the west line of Windsor Street, in said City, eighty (80) feet south of the southeast corner of lot heretofore sold and conveyed to George B. Curran by deed dated July 3rd, 1905, recorded in Vol. 103, page 442, Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio; thence west on a line parallel with the south line of said George B. Curran's lot, to the west line of said lot number three hundred thirty-five (335); thence south along the west line of said lot number three hundred and thirty-five (335) one hundred and eighteen (118) feet, more or less, to the north line of land formerly owned by Sarah D. Wyatt; thence east along the north line of said Wyatt land to the West line of Windsor Street, thence north along the west line of Windsor Street, one hundred and eighteen (118) feet, more or less, to the place of beginning.

Said premises are located at No. 289 Windsor Street, Marion, Ohio and are improved with an eight (8) room, modern frame dwelling, except furnace.

Said premises are appraised at $4,500 and must be sold for not less than two-thirds of said appraised value. Terms of sale: Cash in hand on day of sale.

Dorothy I. Werley, Administratrix of the Estate of Anna T. Curran, Deceased.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

KATHARINE and I waited only until the "surprise" luncheon was served to Mary and her uncle before going into the sitting room for our own luncheon.

But Mary's gurgles of delight at the caviar canapes, the combination of creamed chicken and mushrooms, the salad of avocados, pink grapefruit and chives with a special dressing, neither French nor mayonnaise but a combination of both, and a rose-tinted blanc mange for dessert, followed us into the sitting room.

"You've certainly surpassed yourself this time," Katharine said, as we seated ourselves at our own table. "This is a woman's luncheon dream. I can't wait to get at it, and it ought to do Mary a world of good. But poor Dicky! No breakfast, and then this array of dishes calculated especially to tempt feminine appetites. Not a masculine dish on the menu!"

"I think he'll live," I said callously. "Of course you guessed that he already had stoked up on bacon and eggs and coffee. I faked the telephone call, and he's been hiding in his bedroom for the last hour."

Katharine put down her knife and fork and laughed until the tears stood in her eyes.

"I thought something was up," she said. "To think of his having to put down food! But it's a crime, wasting all this delicious stuff on an unappreciative oaf. I hope he leaves a lot of it. I'll be Scavenger Number One!"

Won't Say A Word

"And I, Two," I told her. "But hurry up with your luncheon. I have to bring you up to date in a lot of things, and I refuse to say a word until you've eaten."

"Suppose Dicky has to call me for Mary before I've finished?" she queried.

"He won't," I said serenely. "When Dicky's in his present mood he can charm his 'thousands and his tens of thousands'."

"And the way you're twisting that quotation around ought to put you in solitary confinement," she declared. "And I'll devote myself to this food, although it's a shame to hurry it. We ought to linger over it for hours."

But we finished in half an hour and then, pushing the dishes back I gave Katharine a quick resume of the events of the last few hours, beginning with Mary's revelation to me of the awful secret fear which was besetting her, and going on through the letter I had written to Harriet Braithwaite, and my telephone call to her.

Stirred To the Roots

She made no exclamation of horror, but her face paled as she listened, and I saw her bite her lower lip savagely, sure sign that Katharine is stirring to the very roots of her.

"That poor baby!" she exclaimed when I had finished. "Carrying that fear around with her! No wonder she rebelled at the iron bars!"

"I had guessed what you and Dicky surmised," she went on, "that she feared a breakdown of her memory. But I couldn't understand how, if she weren't criminally self-centered and selfish, she could contemplate suicide with its dreadful aftermath of despair for her husband and her family. But, now, everything is clear. No wonder she wanted to get out of the world!"

She sat silent for a minute, then her eyes met mine again.

"You were wonderfully resourceful, bringing Harriet Blaithwaite into the picture," she said. "Mary knows her aunt's iron backbone. But, Madge, suppose Mrs Braithwaite is not convinced her sister's mental quirks were due to an injury at childbirth? Couldn't she be persuaded to embroider the truth a bit for Mary's sake?"

The Same Memory

"I don't know," I said, and we were both silent for a little, and I knew that she had the same memory that I had, of the uncompromising, yet generously high-minded woman who had once nearly ruined her own life because she believed her husband's temporary attraction for Katharine, the winsome nurse who had been his right hand overseas in World War I, was something which barred his wife from his life.

"Incidentally," I said banally, "Harriet sent her love to her, and said she knew Edwin also would wish to be remembered to you."

"If you talk to her again, give her my love, and Dr Braithwaite my remembrance also," Katharine said evenly.

Then she went back to Mary again.

"This thing just can't be possible," she said. "If Harriet Braithwaite doesn't deny it, I'll join you in making her say Mary's notion is crazy."
